

She'll Ruin Me

Sean Bertram

Verse 1:

Tempted by a silhouette; illusions of a safety net that I'm sure to fall right through
She echoes in an alleyway, asking each and every day if I'm ready to bend the rules

Pre-Chorus:

My body is begging and bleeding for me to go get her
But my senses are screaming and pleading for me to forget her
How I'd love to forget her, yeah

Verse 2:

It's like I'm metal and she's magnetized; every time I catch her eye she somehow draws me in
I can barely fight my heart no more; it's worn me down right to my core and maybe this time I'll let it win

Pre-Chorus:

I find myself thinking it's easier if I'd never met her
She's nothing but trouble, she's begging for me to regret her

Chorus:

She's the reason I can't sleep
The secret that my heart won't keep
I fly so high and sink so deep
'Cause she's tearing me apart, I love her but I know she'll ruin me

Verse 3:

If I take a leap of faith today will I land or waste away on her cardboard avenue
Well, with 20/20 hindsight I'm waiting on tomorrow night to find out what I should do

Pre-Chorus:

I find myself thinking it's easier if I'd never met her

She's nothing but trouble, she's begging for me to regret her

Chorus:

She's the reason I can't sleep

The secret that my heart won't keep

I fly so high and sink so deep

'Cause she's tearing me apart, I love her but I know she'll ruin me

Bridge:

I'll disregard the danger if it's beautiful

And she's no exception to the rule

Paint yourself the picture of a tragedy

And it won't be hard to paint the fool

Chorus:

She's the reason I can't sleep

The secret that my heart won't keep

She's the reason I can't sleep

The secret that my heart won't keep

I fly so high and sink so deep

'Cause she's tearing me apart, I love her but I know she'll ruin me
