

Amir Brandon – Waiting for Summer

Written by Amir Brandon & Geoff Willingham

© 2017

[Verse 1]

The summer wind is gone again
And autumn leaves drift into my broken dreams
Baby, time stands still when I'm alone
Well, stars align and worlds collide
But none of that means a thing when you're not around
So I look out and count the days till seasons change

[Pre-Chorus 1]

Oh, I guess that's how it goes
When your love walks out the door
But don't you mind me, I'll be

[Chorus]

Waiting for summer
Waiting for you to come around
I'll be waiting for summer
Waiting for you to come around

[Verse 2]

Crystal nights and December lights
Take me back to the year when you were here
The memory fades with the April rain
It's kinda strange how the earth still turns when you're not with me
But nothing here is quite the same

[Pre-Chorus]

Oh, I guess that's how it goes
When your love walks out the door
But don't you mind me, I'll be

[Chorus]

Waiting for summer
Waiting for you to come around
I'll be waiting for summer
Waiting for you to come around

[Bridge]

Last night I walked back to our secret place

And I saw your face
Our sunrise won't show up till summer's day
And so I wait for you, I'll be

[Chorus]

Waiting for summer
Waiting for you to come around
I'll be waiting for summer
Waiting for you to come around
I'll be waiting for summer
Waiting for you to come around