

Beauty in the Grey

Jeffery Straker

Another view of the country from here behind the wheel
Coffee shakes and high hopes take the edge off and conceal
Doubts from all directions, tonight's another stage
Moth unto the lamplight never to forsake, to forsake

So I fill the tank and chart the course and say my good byes
I miss my friends and family oh how I'm alone but I'm not lonely
These voices in my head whispering about the hunger, waiting to be fed

Chorus

Some days I work for dollars, some days for dimes
I've rolled downhill, aimed for stars, I've braved the steep inclines
I Followfate through the shadows, seeking beauty in the grey
I got wandering in my bones and I let go, ya let my heart lead the way

I got a pocket full of promises I've made to myself
The prophets on their barstools say, only time will tell
I been thinking about the faces, I never get to know
Don't let myself get too close, for to ease the letting go

Chorus

And as for regret it tip toes in every now and then
Looking for a place to lie and stumbles out again

Chorus
