Thanks for downloading and checking out this guide of the most common ranges that players call 3bets with. This gives you a great starting point when it comes to assigning a correct range of hands to your opponent. As always, do the following:

1. What range did your opponent first raise with?
2. Consider how wide your opponent would 4bet.
3. How many of the hands he opened with would he also give your 3bet action with?

If you want to make sure your ranges aren't so face-up when facing 3bets, consider picking up the popular video: Reacting To 3Bets. You'll learn how to 4bet more often, when to flat 3bets, and how to fight fire with fire with a solid strategy. Either way...good luck out there and happy grinding!
