Jackal Tracks

Record Watch

The Jackals are on the precipice of breaking a multitude of team and individual records down the final stretch of the regular season. For starters, New Jersey needs just two home runs to set a new franchise record of 109 home runs, smashing a record held for nearly a decade by the 2012 squad.

Speaking of big flies, Josh Rehwaldt's 25 are just four shy of breaking Art Charles' 2016 mark of 29, and subsequently just five off of being the first Jackal to hit 30 in a season. On the other side of the ball, starting pitcher Jorge Tavaréz is closing in on Jackals' legend Joel Bennett's strikeout record of 141 that he accomplished back in 2002. In the meantime, he needs to add just six to his league-leading 112 to crack the top-five on New Jersey's all-time list. Additionally, Dalton Combs is one hot streak away from challenging Wilton Veras' .369 average and potentially Zach Smithlin & Jonny Bladel's 135 hits, with marks of .354 and 104 respectively.
