Derek Michael Hong will ensure that Gorilla's client base benefits from far-sighted, disciplined, and steady financial guidance, regardless of market fluctuations. Hong has nearly 30 years of experience in the investment management industry, most recently with Bank of America, where he managed over $1.4 billion. He was the top-ranked portfolio manager in his division and market (based on 2021 Private Bank CRW Scorecard metrics). His robust experience as both a sell-side and institutional buy-side analyst has yielded a fluid, intuitive understanding of securities analysis and portfolio construction, an instinct that has been tested and honed through numerous difficult markets.

In a prior role, he was handpicked, by name request, for leadership roles in key Abu Dhabi Al Nahyan Royal Family institutional investment organizations, including participation on a team that managed an $800 billion sovereign wealth fund. Hong is a graduate of the United States Air Force Academy (Dean's list, Commandant's list and Superintendent's list distinction) and Stanford University. Hong currently serves as an adjunct faculty member at Palm Beach Atlantic University; he has also taught finance classes at the United States Air Force Academy.

Danielle Bourgi-Balsinde brings strong ties to the South Florida business community, along with comprehensive administrative services and client-facing capabilities.
