About The Financial Services Network

When you look at your financial advisor and their local office, what you don’t see are the myriads of people and organizations with whom they have partnered in order to provide you with the personalized financial advice that you are seeking. Behind the scenes, your advisor has aligned with a broker-dealer, a branch office, investment companies, technology firms, insurance agencies, research teams, and a wealth of other professionals in order to ensure that they have the support needed to help you plan for your financial future.

One of those key relationships is The Financial Services Network (The Network). The Network was founded over three decades ago with a singular purpose of supporting independent financial advisors. The Network’s diverse team includes a highly experienced group of investment, business and compliance professionals serving the needs of a select group of financial advisors who share a common bond of excellence and desire to elevate their practices. The Network’s mission is to bring experience, expertise, and passion into partnerships so that advisors can focus on helping clients navigate their paths to achieving financial security. The Diamond Group Wealth Advisors has been a partner office of The Financial Services Network since 2016.
