What is Medicare?

What is Medicare?

A federal health insurance program for eligible U.S. citizens and legal residents

Funded in part by taxes you pay while working

Individual health insurance

Medicare is not...

- Free
- A family health plan
- Social Security
- Medicaid

What is Medicaid?

- A state government program that helps pay health care costs for individuals, families and children with limited income and resources
- Programs vary from state-to-state but do follow federal guidelines for benefits
- Eligibility varies from state-to-state

Medicaid and Medicare can work together! – “Dual Eligibility”

Who can get Medicare?

Who can get Medicare?

U.S. citizens and legal residents

Legal residents must live in the U.S. for at least 5 years in a row, including the 5 years just before applying for Medicare

You must also meet one of the following requirements:

- Age 65 or older
- Younger than 65 with a qualifying disability
- Any age with a diagnosis of end-stage renal disease or ALS

Can you have both Medicare and Medicaid? Yes!

Some people are eligible for both Medicare and Medicaid

“Dual Eligibility”

Medicare and Medicaid can work together for your health care costs

You may qualify for special Medicare plans.

Do I need Medicare if I plan to work past 65?

Your Medicare enrollment options when working past 65 may be different

You may be able to delay, or you may have to enroll at age 65

Generally, you can delay Medicare past age 65 without penalty if:

- The employer has 20 or more employees
- The employer health coverage is considered “creditable”

You need to enroll at age 65 if:

- Your employer has fewer than 20 employees
- Your coverage is not considered “creditable”

What if I’m covered by my spouse’s employer?

You may be able to delay if your employer-based health coverage is through your spouse. You may have to enroll. It depends on the spouse’s employer and any rules the employer has around covered dependents.

Getting Medicare while still working

Medicare and your employer insurance can work together

If you take any part of Medicare, you will no longer be able to contribute to an HSA (health savings account)

Medicare will not cover anyone but you, so consider how any dependents will be covered
