Mutual Fund Fees: All fees paid to Bighorn Wealth Management for investment advisory services are separate and distinct from the fees and expenses charged by mutual funds and/or ETFs to their shareholders. These fees and expenses are described in each fund's prospectus. These fees will generally include a management fee, other fund expenses, and a possible distribution fee. If the fund also imposes sales charges, a client may pay an initial or deferred sales charge. A client could invest in a mutual fund directly, without our services. Accordingly, the client should review both the fees charged by the funds and our fees to fully understand the total amount of fees to be paid by the client and to thereby evaluate the advisory services being provided.

Item 8: Methods of Analysis, Investment Strategies and Risk of Loss

METHODS OF ANALYSIS

We use the following methods of analysis in formulating our investment advice:

Asset Allocation: Rather than focusing primarily on securities selection, we attempt to identify an appropriate ratio of securities, fixed income, and cash suitable to the client's investment goals and risk tolerance.

A risk of asset allocation is that the client may not participate in sharp increases in a particular security, industry or market sector. Another risk is that the ratio of securities, fixed income, and cash will change over time due to stock and market movements and, if not corrected, will no longer be appropriate for the client's goals.

Risks for all forms of analysis: Our securities analysis methods rely on the assumption that the companies whose securities we purchase and sell, the rating agencies that review these securities, and other publicly-available sources of information about these securities, are providing accurate and unbiased data. While we are alert to indications that data may be incorrect, there is always a risk that our analysis may be compromised by inaccurate or misleading information.

INVESTMENT STRATEGIES

We use the following strategy(ies) in advising on client accounts, provided that such strategy(ies) are appropriate to the needs of the client and consistent with the client's investment objectives, risk tolerance, and time horizons, among other considerations:

Long-term purchases: We purchase securities with the idea of holding them in the client's account for a year or longer. Typically we employ this strategy when:

- we believe the securities to be currently undervalued, and/or
- we want exposure to a particular asset class over time, regardless of the current projection for this class.

A risk in a long-term purchase strategy is that by holding the security for this length of time, we may not take advantage of short-term gains that could be profitable to a client. Moreover, if our predictions are incorrect, a security may decline sharply in value before we make the decision to sell.

Item 9: Disciplinary Information

We are required to disclose any legal or disciplinary events that are material to a client's or prospective client's evaluation of our advisory business or the integrity of our management.

I do not have any legal, financial, or disciplinary events to disclose.

Item 10: Other Financial Industry Activities and Affiliations

At the client's discretion, the client can engage Michael J. Sikora in his capacity as a registered representative with LPL Financial to render securities brokerage services under a commission or fee arrangement. LPL Financial is a registered broker/dealer and member of the Financial Industry Regulatory Authority (FINRA). Brokerage commissions and fees may be charged by LPL Financial to effect these securities transactions and thereafter, a portion of these commissions may be paid by LPL to Michael J. Sikora. Prior to implementing any transactions, the client will be required to enter into a new account agreement with LPL Financial. The brokerage commission charged by LPL Financial may be higher or lower than those charged by other broker/dealers. In addition, Michael Sikora may also receive additional ongoing distribution fees (12b-1 fees) for mutual fund purchases from the mutual fund company during the period that the client maintains the mutual fund investment .

Depending on the type of LPL Financial account that could be used to implement a financial plan, such compensation or fees may include (but is not limited to) advisory program wrap fees, commissions, transaction charges, confirmation charges, small account fees, mutual fund 12b-1 fees, mutual fund sub-transfer agency fees, hedge fund, managed futures and variable annuity investor servicing fees, retirement plan fees, fees in connection with LPL Financial 's insured deposit account program, administrative servicing fees for trust accounts, compensation for directing order flow, and bonuses, awards or other things of value offered by LPL Financial to Michael J. Sikora. This compensation may be more or less depending on the product or service recommended. Therefore, there may be a financial incentive to recommend that a financial plan be implemented using a certain product or service over another product or service.

This presents a conflict of interest to the extent that he recommends the purchase of an investment product which results in a commission or fee being paid to him as a registered representative of LPL Financial. Michael J. Sikora reconciles this conflict of interest by adhering to the Code of Ethics detailed in the Code of Ethics section of this brochure.

Our firm and/or individuals associated with our firm may buy or sell for their personal accounts securities identical to or different from those recommended to our clients. In addition, any related person(s) may have an interest or position in a certain security(ies) which may also be recommended to a client.
