

12. I resolve to overcome my fear of public speaking.

I'm convinced my fear of public speaking continues to be a major roadblock in my career and personal lives. I will attempt to remedy this issue by joining a local speaker's organization. With newfound practice in public speaking, I see myself breaking through into a whole new stratosphere of confidence and success. Not only will being a better public speaker advance my career, but it'll improve the way I share information with my clients and prospects. I look forward to the day when I can efficiently share information in a group setting.

Scott Stanley
Founder
Pharos Wealth Management
Novato, Calif.