

About the Equestrian Aid Foundation®

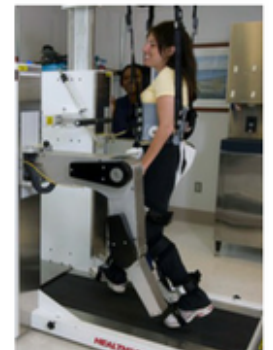

There's nothing freak about a riding accident. Emergency rooms treat about 15,000 equine-related head injuries in a year.

One in 5 horse horse-related injuries happens before mounting (or off of the horse).

- Equestrian Aid is a nonprofit foundation that provides needs-based financial assistance to horse people who are coping with catastrophic injuries or illness.
- We help individuals from all corners of the equestrian world, including riders, grooms, farriers, breeders, trainers and others in equestrian-related fields.
- When equestrians or equine professionals get seriously hurt or ill, they can lose everything: jobs, homes, financial security, independence and dignity, quality of life, and often the ability to stay involved with the animals that they love. Whole families may also be impacted.
- Equestrian Aid's assistance to help pay for basic living and rehabilitative expenses can go a long way in helping to deal with medical, personal and financial crises.
- In the 20 years since its inception, Equestrian Aid has given $2.7 million directly to grant recipients.
- Equestrian Aid is the only major equestrian support fund that does not limit its grants to specific equestrian disciplines, occupations or circumstances of injury or illness.
- To date, horse people in 30 states throughout the country have received needs-based assistance from the Foundation – most in the past 10 years.
- The Foundation's goal is to expand our national presence so that we can help more horse people cope with serious medical challenges and overcome adversity.
- By supporting the Equestrian Aid Foundation with a tax-deductible donation, you will bring help, hope and healing to equestrians in need!

"I can't begin to tell you how comforting it is to be able to go to the pharmacy, the supermarket or the gas station and swipe my debit card knowing there are funds to cover my medications, groceries and gas."
