BINGO BUGLE

The Nation's Bingo and Gaming Newspaper

BINGO & GAMING

At 97, Isabelle still looks forward to her weekly bingo—and the Elks members make sure she never misses it. They pick her up and bring her to bingo each week, where she is clearly cherished by everyone. In fact, during my visit, several members asked me to be sure to take her picture. It's easy to see why Isabelle is such a special part of their bingo family.

New York Bingo Gets a Boost

It appears that New York's Mayor Mamdani wants you to win big at bingo. In a recent reforms package, section 8.1 calls for the elimination of "unnecessary regulations... including prize limits" for nonprofits that run bingo nights and other games of chance as fundraisers. Currently, New York City's maximum single-game prize is $250, and the maximum per occasion is $1,000. If approved, the Department of Consumer and Worker Protection (DCWP) would remove the city's cap. However, there would still be state-regulated caps on single prizes up to $5,000 and $15,000 per occasion. That's a 1,900% increase on single-game winning potential and a 1,400% increase on prizes per occasion. The reform would also remove regulations for bingo and game-of-chance licenses. The package did not mention which regulations would be eliminated.

New Igaming Jurisdiction Launches

For various reasons, not the least of which it's the major growth engine in the gambling industry and possibly augurs the eventual extinction of brick-and-mortar casinos, online gaming is being followed closely within the gaming community. Legal in eight states and available only in seven, igaming's gross gaming revenue was nearly $960 million in May 2026 and will, by most reckonings, break the billion-dollar bubble sometime this year. That's per month. Though it's high-growth in GGR (amount wagered by players minus the amount paid out in winnings), it's low-growth in legalization, especially compared to sports betting, again for numerous reasons. So, a new jurisdiction for internet casinos is pretty big news, even if it's in Canada. Alberta launched its market for igaming and online sports betting in July, making it the second province to offer the options, after Ontario. The province has been planning for igaming for the better part of two years. Registration opened in January 2026 and gray-market (unregulated) operators were given a deadline to submit completed applications, pay all required registration fees, and cease all unregulated betting activities. Upwards of 30 operators (plus suppliers) were set to go at press time or shortly thereafter, including FanDuel, DraftKings, BetMGM, BetRivers, Caesars, BallyBet, PointsBet, theScore Bet, BET99, Betway, and several Canadian/local players like River Cree iGaming and Play Alberta. Alberta's icasino and sports betting market could generate nearly $3 billion in revenue over its first two fiscal years, according to numerous estimates and could encourage other Canadian provinces to move away from government monopolies and adopt competitive igaming markets.

Horse Racing in Las Vegas Again?

Horse racetracks have come (infrequently) and gone (quickly) in Las Vegas over the decades. Now, a story on ThoroughbredDailyNews.com (TDN) reports that one Chip Meyers, a Las Vegas resident and Bitcoin vending-machine mogul, wants to try it again. He told TDN that the entire facility would cost upwards of $550 million, not including the land, which he hopes someone else would buy and lease to his group, and he has half the funding in place; he also hopes to raise the rest through a Hong Kong-type membership model. In addition, to secure a gambling license, he'd need a minimum 200-room hotel, which he doesn't want to build, so as not to compete with the casinos. It's a grandiose vision that he's pursuing vigorously (his wife is the daughter of a long-time horseracing-industry executive) according to sources.

Research Leads to Retirement

A Maryland couple says they can now look forward to retirement with far less uncertainty after a life-changing lottery win. The Dundalk couple, who chose to remain anonymous, claimed the top $500,000 prize from a Gifts of Green scratch-off ticket in midsummer, according to a news release from the Maryland Lottery. The pair, who both work at a Maryland college and are approaching retirement, said they have a long history of playing instant lottery games together. "We play because we love it," the wife said. "It's something we can have fun with together. We once won $500. That was exciting." But before they won big, her husband actually did a bit of research. "I'd been checking the remaining big prizes on the lottery website and Gifts of Green had a few top prizes still available," he said. Then, while his wife was going out to the store, he asked that she pick up two tickets for the game, hoping his hunch paid off. After unpacking their groceries, the couple sat down to scratch their tickets together. Within moments, they realized they were looking at something far bigger than they had ever imagined. "My eyes went back and forth between the [dollar sign] symbol and the $500,000 beneath it and the game's rules. I could not believe what I was seeing," she recalled. "When I looked in her eyes and heard the tremor in her voice, I knew it was something big," her husband added. As for what's next, the couple plans to put the money toward a new car and, perhaps most importantly, a more secure retirement. "We've been trying to figure out how retirement was going to work for us," the lucky woman said. "This takes away so many of the worries."

Pick-Six Win in the Nick of Time

A New Jersey player found a winning Pick-6 ticket from last May just eight days before it was set to expire according to New Jersey lottery officials. The $5.9 million ticket was sold on May 22, 2025, at the Eisenhower Exxon in Roseland, Essex County. According to the lottery, winners have up to one year from the original drawing to claim their prize. When the lottery announced the $5.9 million prize had not yet been claimed, the winner decided to speak with the employees at the gas station, which just so happens to be a frequent stop for him. "While they didn't know for sure who the winner was, they knew that only a few of their regular players opted for Pick-6 as their game of choice and told him to double-check everything," lottery officials said in a statement. Doing as he was told, the player went back to his home and searched in every spot he might have missed. After checking every possible corner, he decided to go through his closet and check every pants pocket—one of which did in fact have a crumpled Pick-6 ticket stuffed inside. The lottery player confirmed the ticket was the real deal, then immediately took it to the lottery headquarters, arriving midday on May 14. "As always, New Jersey Lottery reminds players to check their tickets. While jackpot prizes going unclaimed is rare, many small tickets sit unclaimed in drawers and pockets for months or years when they could be redeemed for cash!" officials wrote. "Tickets can be scanned at any NJ Lottery retail location or with any phone camera using the NJ Lottery app."

Getting Community Care

The VA spent over $36 billion on community care in fiscal year 2025, and it appears to be money well spent.

The expenditures were courtesy of the 2018 MISSION Act, which lets veterans get their care out in the community from non-VA health care providers — with the VA picking up the tab. Added to that in 2025 was the Dole Act, which lets veterans seek care in the community without frequent medical reviews or permissions from VA medical staff.

It used to be that veterans had to get a new referral every 90 to 180 days to keep getting care out in the community. Now, for 30 categories of care, new referrals will only be needed once a year.

Veterans in three states in particular benefited from that money: Texas at $3.3 billion, Florida at $2.8 billion and California at $2.1 billion.

If you’ve already been getting community care, find out from the community care office at your VA medical facility where in the permission and referral cycle you are so you know in advance when the next one will be required. Since most of the medical categories will only need a yearly referral, get your schedule in writing so there isn’t a problem at the last minute with an expired authorization.

If you need medical treatment that the VA doesn’t provide, or if the wait times at your local VA hospital are too long, or if the driving time to your VA hospital is too long, you might qualify for community care. To get specifics, call the community care office for an initial referral. If you already have a community care provider in mind, find out whether they are part of the VA network before you get care from them to be certain the VA will pay for it.

To learn more about getting medical care in your own community, go to department.va.gov/vha/community-care.

Avoiding Covid ...
Still

“It’s gone! There is no more Covid!”
Well, no.

I heard this exchange in the store today and had to step in. I’m probably the only one who is still, after six years, tracking local cases of Covid on a weekly basis. And the truth, as I explained to the two ladies in the store, is that Covid is still out there.

As of this writing, Covid is launching again in three states, declining in 34 states, and remaining the same in 12 states, while actually circulating to some degree in all 50 states.

It’s not likely that a worldwide pandemic will explode again like it did in 2020. After all, so many people have taken the vaccines and still have a tiny bit of immunity left over from that.

The keyword there, however, is tiny. And that immunity is waning more by the month.

In other words, it is possible to get Covid now, despite prior shots and despite there not being a huge number of cases at the moment.

While we don’t need to monitor our potential exposure every single minute like we did when Covid was raging around the world, we do need to acknowledge that over 800,000 seniors died of Covid — and take care of ourselves.

Some steps:

Identify which stores are likely to have test kits in stock should you need to replenish your supply.

Wear a mask if you’re going to be in a crowd.

Ask your doctor whether you should have a booster.

Wash your hands and use hand sanitizer.

According to WHO (the World Health Organization), in the past four weeks there have been 246 Covid deaths around the world; 202 of them were here in the United States.

BINGO LAND

NEWS FROM THE REAL WORLD & CYBERSPACE
Bingo Boosted by Innovation
Bingo, casinos and iGaming developers are actively creating new forms of bingo to attract a younger generation of players and adapt to fast-paced mobile gaming environments. By blending traditional slot mechanics, video game elements and community features, they have turned online bingo into a dynamic sector of gaming development. Some highlights of Bingo innovation:
Hybrid Games
* The most successful modern variation is Slingo, which combines slot machine mechanics with a standard 5x5 bingo grid. Players spin a slot reel to mark numbers on their card, incorporating wilds, free spins, and bonus rounds.

* Table Game Mashups: Casinos blend bingo with classic table games like poker or roulette, using card suits or wheel numbers as the call triggers rather than standard numbered balls.
High-Speed & Gamified Formats
* Speed Bingo: Traditional games are shortened drastically to fit the preference for quick gaming bursts. Numbers are called rapidly using automated software, resulting in sessions that wrap up in a fraction of the traditional time.
* Video Game Progression: Formats like Bingo Blitz integrate video game progression, where players earn experience points, unlock new “virtual rooms” or cities, and complete narrative adventures as they play.

Modern Online Platforms
Modern bingo platforms now feature optimized mobile access, live chat, personal promotion systems, achievement models, and real-time game participation features. This is especially noticeable on platforms offering flexible mobile access during live sports viewing hours. Many sports audiences increasingly use second-screen entertainment while following football, basketball, cricket, rugby, or combat sports events. In these situations, fast-access gaming environments with live interaction features naturally fit broader digital entertainment routines. Features commonly associated with modern platforms include progressive jackpots, themed rooms, scheduled tournaments and chat functions have helped make bingo part of the wider shift toward interactive entertainment built around continuous engagement rather than isolated gameplay sessions. Real-time notification services, interactive features, live participation mechanics and personalized recommendations systems have become an integral part of many digital entertainment experiences, and bingo is no exception.

Biddeford-Saco Elks

Elks Care, Elks Share

Biddeford-Saco Elks Lodge #1597 puts the Elks motto, "Elks Care - Elks Share," into action by supporting local children, families, veterans and others in need through fundraising, grants and member generosity.

They have directly supported arts and library programs in Biddeford, Saco and Old Orchard Beach schools and helped homeless veterans furnish new apartments. They have also provided 120 backpacks for area students in need. Last year, they gave $3,500 to food patries and will again this year!

The lodge also supports higher education through Elks scholarships, veterans through fundraisers and special events, and the Maine Children's Cancer Program.

Every Tuesday, bingo at 68 Ocean Park Road in Saco brings people together while raising money for the lodge's charitable work.

Strange BUT TRUE

By Samantha Weaver

- * The "Escape from Alcatraz Marathon," created in 1980, is an annual event designed to show that it is indeed possible to survive an escape from Alcatraz, and includes a 1.5-mile swim to San Francisco, an 18-mile bike ride and an 8-mile run.
- * In the seventh century B.C., the North African Berbers played a soccer-like game as a fertility rite.
- * Minority children make up 65% of all non-family abductions.
- * Some police forces purposely assign at least one woman to their SWAT teams so their male counterparts will have a "den mother" to counteract some of the men's more violent tendencies.
- * The first arrest resulting from an emergency call occurred on July 8, 1937, at 4:20 a.m., when the wife of John Stanley Beard dialed 999 to report a burglar, Thomas Duffy, outside her home in England.
- * It is illegal to ride an ugly horse in Wilbur, Washington.
- * Of the roughly 300 million tons of plastic produced each year, half consists of single-use items.
- * In France, citizens are automatically registered to vote when they turn 18 years old.
- * Over the course of several decades, African American blues musician Daryl Davis made a point of befriending KKK members and questioning them about their beliefs. As of 2017, 200 of those Klansmen had given up their robes as a result.
- * People who worked at soda fountains were called soda jerks due to the classic jerking motion they used to pump soda water.

Fun Fact

Yakutsk in Siberia, Russia (population 350,000) is known as the world's coldest city, and the largest built on permafrost. The average winter temperatures easily plummet to -41° F. The ground remains frozen year-round. Cars are kept running non-stop in the winter, as the oil and fuel can freeze solid if the vehicle is turned off.

Fun Fact

In 1867, on Coney Island, New York, an immigrant named Charles Feltman invented the first “hot dog bun,” enabling beachgoers to enjoy his “Frankfurter” sausages without needing plates or silverware. Over the next 60 years, Feltman’s “hot dog” stand grew into Feltman’s Ocean Pavilion, serving up to 40,000 hot dogs each day.
