

Medical Insurance Policy

If you come into the office for a routine eye exam and we find a medical diagnosis, we are required to file your medical insurance. This means that you will be responsible for your specialist copay and your refraction which is $30.00. Also, if you have not met your deductible (which we don't know until we file the insurance), you will be responsible for whatever the insurance doesn't cover. We don't know if you have a medical diagnosis until we perform the exam. We can't say for certain that we will or will not be filing it with medical unless you have had a medical issue in the past. We will not be able to file it with your vision if you have a medical issue or if the medical applies it to your deductible.
