Paul's Letter to the Colossians

1:1-23 The Exalted Messiah

1:24-2:5 The Suffering Apostle

2:6-23 The Pressure to Turn Away

3:1-4 The Resurrection Life

- The Messiah Poem
- Genesis 1:1, Psalms 2, 3, 68, Proverbs 3:5
- Full of Echoes
- The Image of the Invisible God, Risen from the Dead
- The New Humanity: Set Your Mind on Things Above Where the Messiah Rules
- The New Roman Household: Jesus Is Lord of the House
- Participation in the Suffering of the Messiah
- When the Messiah is Revealed, You Will Be Revealed with Him in Glory
- The Messiah in You, the Hope of Glory
- The Resurrection Life: Live in the Present as the Kind of Human You Will Become
- The New Humanity: No One's Greek or Jewish, Circumcised or Uncircumcised, Slave or Free: The Messiah Is All and Is in All People

Paul's Letter to the Colossians is a NT letter written by Paul. It was written from Ephesus to the Christian church in Colossae, most likely in A.D. 58. The letter addresses several issues within the church of Colossae, including the influence of false teachers and the importance of the person and work of Christ. The letter also emphasizes the centrality of Christ in all aspects of life and living a life that is in alignment with the will of God. It is a inspiring and instructive message that applies to all believers throughout the ages.