The Steamboat Grand Embraces the Spirit of the Grand Lodges of the West

TripAdvisor Travelers Rate Steamboat Grand A Top-Performing Hotel for Six Consecutive Years

STEAMBOAT SPRINGS, CO-WINTER 2016/17-Steamboat has long been known as a true western town, where the grandeur of rolling valleys invites guests from around the world to explore, relax and reconnect. For the past 16 years, the Steamboat Grand has blended the spirit of Steamboat's western heritage with superior guest services and the finest amenities resulting in a luxurious getaway deep in the Colorado Rocky Mountains.

The Grand is one of the premier mountain village lodging facilities. While staying true to the history of the area, The Grand continues to offer new amenities and attractions for guests to create the complete Colorado mountain town vacation experience.

Hotel guests as well as meeting and convention attendees will be greeted by numerous enhancements at the Steamboat Grand this season, including new state-of-the-art television systems from DirecTV; new carpet in Burgess Creek and Spring Creek meeting rooms, the Cabin Restaurant and all interior hallways; penthouse updates with new artwork, furniture and lighting; and new bedding in all 328 guestrooms. The Grand also recently expanded the deck around the heated pool and large hot tubs, laid new carpet in the Korbel Ballroom and lobby, and upgraded the wireless system in guest rooms and meeting areas.

"The Steamboat Grand epitomized the grand hotel tradition, where elegant comfort meets genuine Colorado," said Michael Lomas, general manager/vice president of The Steamboat Grand. "The unique guest experience is created by combining friendly natural mountain ambiance with the highest level of amenities and guest services, reminiscent of the grand lodge spirit."

Located at the base of the Steamboat Ski Resort, the seven-story Steamboat Grand features 328 beautifully appointed guestroom accommodations, ranging from studios, parlors, double queen and king hotel rooms to one-, two- and three-bedroom condominiums and eight luxurious penthouses. The Grand is home to award-winning dining, a full-service spa and fitness center, an outdoor heated pool and two large whirlpool spas, and 17,000 square feet of indoor/outdoor convention space including the hotel's centerpiece 5,484-square-foot Korbel Grand Ballroom.

"This is a real town with a reputation for genuine friendliness, and we set our sights on exceeding guests' expectations while always providing the highest level of services and amenities," Lomas said. "The Steamboat Grand has become a cornerstone of the Steamboat experience and a key element in the resort's year-round focus."

The Steamboat Grand was recently recognized with the 2015 TripAdvisor Hall of Fame Certificate of Excellence, a prestigious award that recognizes businesses that consistently earn top ratings from TripAdvisor travelers. The accolade is granted only to those businesses that have been recipients of the Certificate of Excellence for at least five years in a row. This is the sixth consecutive year that the Steamboat Grand has been singled out by TripAdvisor, earning the property its designation in the Hall of Fame. Only 9% of the total Certificate of Excellence recipients have secured this special recognition in this high-ranking category.

The property, designed by acclaimed international architectural firm Jung/Brannen Associates, features a western-themed mountain ambiance reminiscent of the American mountain lodges of the west. The hotel's spectacular entry atmosphere, all designed to give an overwhelming sense of arrival, is centered around an elegant, large wooden beamed porte-cochère entrance and dramatic multi-level lobby with native stone and wood, vaulted ceilings, abundant natural light, indoor streams and two-story stone fireplaces. Panoramic views of the mountains and Yampa Valley are the highlight of the hotel, and are featured around nearly every corner and in guest rooms and condominiums.

The interior of the hotel is based on subtle elegance and the rugged mountain spirit of the American West. Details include hand-cut alder and knotty pine, original custom chandeliers and lamps created in rawhide and wrought-iron with sculpted bears and pine trees, and native Colorado Moss Rock. Relax in aged-leather chairs around wooden tables in public areas and find many special touches from historic photos to local artwork.

Guestroom and penthouse decor incorporates solid-wood furniture and headboards, historic ski and winter photos dating from the early 1900s, and soft earth-tone colors. Select bathrooms have tiled floors, solid-wood cabinets, walk-in showers with glass doors and, in many rooms, deep, shell-shaped whirlpool jet tubs. Eight luxuriously designed penthouses, from more than 2,200 square feet to an unbelievable 4,000 square feet, offer the perfect place to gather in the Colorado Rocky Mountains. The exclusive penthouse level features designer kitchens, view-through, stone-surround fireplaces separating the living and dining rooms, as well as private in-suite sauna and whirlpool spas.

In addition, rooms feature 32- or 42-inch flat-screen HD color televisions, stereos, coffee makers, phone lines with voice mail capabilities, hair dryers, irons and boards. Condominiums and many rooms feature DVD players, whirlpool tubs, stone-surround, energy-efficient gas fireplaces, fully equipped kitchens featuring GE Profile appliances, hardwood cabinetry and granite countertops. Complimentary high-speed Wi-Fi service is the standard throughout the property.

Building upon the intricate in-room designs, artwork is a primary vehicle used throughout the hotel to instill the grandeur of the local landscape and lifestyle, all set in the grand tradition of the facility itself. The great dynamic here is not only are the viewers exposed to a wide variety of techniques and mediums but experience the art in the beautiful grand hotel setting. The exhibit selections cover the spectrum from historical photographs of Ski Town, U.S.A.[®], to images synonymous with a 100-year western heritage, to more modern contemporary pieces by local, regional and national artists.

The Steamboat Grand offers guests the exclusive amenity to incorporate on-mountain resort and hotel charges directly into your hotel folio. Whether you are dining on the mountain, enrolling your children into the industry leading Kids' Vacation Center, taking a lesson through the Steamboat SnowSports School, purchasing new equipment or clothing at one of the resort's retail outlets or sampling one of the many valley-wide activities, enjoy the convenience of having all your purchases go directly to one bill.

"There is a synergy that further enhances the guest experience in having the same company operating both the resort and the hotel," said Lomas. "It allows us to provide guests with the convenient hotel equipment storage facility right at the slopes, offer activities year-round throughout Steamboat Springs, and simplify their vacation by handling all local arrangements with the charges for everything put directly on their hotel bill."

Providing extended convenience, Steamboat Ski & Sport offers guests an on-site rental facility featuring the latest ski and snowboard technology. Additionally, guests can utilize the Grand Storage located slopeside in Gondola Square to store their gear nightly, eliminating the hassle of carrying boots and boards across the street. Steamboat Ski & Sport also features resort logo-wear, souvenir items and all the little things to make a day on the mountain complete.

And, so you don't think you still have to take a covered wagon or horse-drawn stagecoach to this mountain retreat, Steamboat Springs has the closest major airport of any ski resort in Colorado or Utah, the Steamboat/Hayden Airport, just 22 miles away. Steamboat/Hayden Airport (HDN), served by major airlines including Alaska, American, Delta and United, is less than a half-hour from the resort, making Steamboat the most convenient accessed ski resort in Colorado with nonstop service from 12 major U.S. cities (Atlanta, Chicago, Dallas/Ft. Worth, Denver, Houston, Los Angeles, Minneapolis/St. Paul, Newark/NYC, San Diego, San Francisco, Seattle, Washington-Dulles) into Steamboat/Hayden-the best mountain airport in the Rocky Mountains.
