

A passion for law, land and life

As a successful environmental lawyer, Patricia Houlihan traveled the world. At home, she volunteered and competed in triathlons. She was recognized in the Canadian Legal Expert directory, received the Environmental Excellence in Business Award and was featured in Canadian Lawyer Magazine. As a triathlete she competed in the World Championships and Ironman Canada. She had a great life.

So, when she decided to go into real estate people asked: WHY? "I have loved real estate since I was 12 years old! I thought my law background and knowledge of Vancouver (born and raised here) could help clients. I love educating people as to how they can best succeed in real estate."

Real estate is treating Patricia well—she's recognized by the Greater Vancouver Real Estate Board as one of its top realtors, she is BC's first Certified Eco-Broker and she is a Certified Luxury Home Marketing Specialist. She is raising twins and still competes in triathlons. She says, "I am incredibly lucky: I have a great family, I'm healthy, I live in paradise (Deep Cove) and my work allows me to wake up excited and energized—you can't beat that!"

Patricia would love to assist those wanting to buy, sell or learn more about real estate. She can be reached at phoulihan@vancouverviews.ca or 604-376-7653.
