Contents

_Acknowledgments_ vii

Introduction: The Circulation of Children 1
_Laura Briggs and Diana Marre_

Part I  Defining Reproduction: Law, Strangers, Family, Kin 29

_Peter Selman_

2. International Adoption: Lessons from Hawai’i 52
_Judith Schachter_

3. The Social Temporalities of Adoption and the Limits of Plenary Adoption 69
_Françoise-Romaine Ouellette_

4. The Desire for Parenthood among Lesbians and Gay Men 87
_Martine Gross, Translated by Léo Thiers-Vidal_

5. Refiguring Kinship in the Space of Adoption 103
_Barbara Yngvesson_

6. The Transnational Adoption of a Related Child in Québec, Canada 119
_Chantal Collard_

Part II  Perspectives from Sending Countries 135

7. Baby-Bearing Storks: Brazilian Intermediaries in the Adoption Process 138
_Domingos Abreu_
Contents

8 Transnational Connections and Dissenting Views: The Evolution of Child Placement Policies in Brazil 154
   Claudia Fonseca

9 International Adoption in Russia: “Market,” “Children for Organs,” and “Precious” or “Bad” Genes 174
   Lilia Khabibullina

10 The Medicalization of Adoption in and from Peru 190
   Jessaca B. Leinaweaver

11 Children, Individuality, Family: Discussing Assisted Reproductive Technologies and Adoption in Lithuania 208
   Auksuolė Čepaitienė

PART III Experiences in Receiving Countries 223

12 “We Do Not Have Immigrant Children at This School, We Just Have Children Adopted from Abroad”: Flexible Understandings of Children’s “Origins” 226
   Diana Marre

13 Routes to the Roots: Toward an Anthropology of Genealogical Practices 244
   Caroline Legrand

14 Return Journeys and the Search for Roots: Contradictory Values Concerning Identity 256
   Signe Howell

15 Mothers for Others: Between Friendship and the Market 271
   Anne Cadoret, Translated by Margaret Dunham

16 Seeking Sisters: Twinship and Kinship in an Age of Internet Miracles and DNA Technologies 283
   Toby Alice Volkman

About the Contributors 303
Index 309