

CONTENTS

Acknowledgments	xiii
Introduction: Superhumans in America	1
1 The Family of Superman: The Superhero Team and the Promise of Universal Citizenship	37
2 “Flame On!” Nuclear Families, Unstable Molecules, and the Queer History of The Fantastic Four	66
3 Comic Book Cosmopolitics: The Fantastic Four’s Counterpublic as a World-Making Project	94
4 “Where No X-Man Has Gone Before!” Mutant Superheroes and the Cultural Politics of the Comic Book Space Opera	125
5 Heroes “That Give a Damn!” Urban Folktales and the Triumph of the Working-Class Hero	164
6 Consumed by Hellfire: Demonic Possession and the Limits of the Superhuman in the 1980s	200
7 Lost in the Badlands: Radical Imagination and the Enchantments of Mutant Solidarity in The New Mutants	234
Epilogue: Marvelous Corpse	269
Notes	283
Bibliography	301
Index	309

Color plates follow page 124.