CONTENTS

Preface and Acknowledgments vii

INTRODUCTION

1. Alternative Views of Central Asia’s Future
   David B. H. Denoon 3

2. Walls and Windmills: Economic Development in Central Asia
   Nazgul Jenish 20

3. Factoring the Foreign Policy Goals of the Central Asian States
   Marlene Laruelle 75

THE OUTSIDE POWERS

4. Both Epicenter and Periphery: U.S. Interests in Central Asia
   Andrew Kuchins and Shalini Sharan 101

5. Chinese and Russian Economic Interests in Central Asia:
   Comparative Analysis
   Li Xin and Xin Daleng 130

6. The Strategic Interests of China and Russia in Central Asia
   Xing Guangcheng 154

7. Life after Divorce: Russia, Central Asia, and Two Decades of Tumultuous Relations
   Alisher Khamidov 173

8. Europe in Central Asia: Political Idealism and Economic Pragmatism
   Sebastien Peyrouse 209

9. Japan and Korea in Central Asia: Economic Observations
   Edward J. Lincoln 237
10. India’s Objectives in Central Asia
   Gulshan Sachdeva
   262

11. Ambitions of Grandeur: Understanding Turkey’s
    Foreign Policy in a Changing World
    Joshua W. Walker
    296

REGIONAL INTEGRATION?

12. Alternative Futures for Central Asia: How Far Will Integration and Cooperation Proceed?
    Richard Pomfret
    325

13. The Development of the Shanghai Cooperation
    Organization: The Impact on China-U.S.
    Relations in Central Asia
    Pan Guang
    347

14. The Quest for Energy Security in the Central Asian “Neighborhood”
    Carolyn Kissane
    366

CONCLUSION

15. Uncertainty Ahead: China Rising, U.S. Fatigued, and Central Asia Waiting on New Alignments
    David B. H. Denoon
    397

About the Contributors

Index

419
425