CONTENTS

_Acknowledgments_ ix
Introduction 1
1 Houston: Race, Class, Oil, and the Making of “America’s Most Diverse City” 30
2 “A Dream Come True”: Shia Ismaili Experiences in Corporate America 64
3 “It’s Allah’s Will”: The Transnational Muslim Heritage Economy 95
4 “I Have a Very Good Relationship with Allah”: Pakistani Gay Men and Transnational Belonging 124
5 The Pakistan Independence Day Festival: The Making of a “Houston Tradition” 152
6 “Pakistanis Have Always Been Radio People”: Transnational Media, Business Imperatives, and Homeland Politics 178
Conclusion 205
Notes 215
_Bibliography_ 233
_Index_ 257
_About the Author_ 263