

CONTENTS

List of Illustrations	vii
Acknowledgments	ix
Introduction	1
Jessica M. Mulligan and Heide Castañeda
SECTION I: INCLUSIONS AND EXCLUSIONS	35
1. Stratification by Immigration Status: Contradictory Exclusion and Inclusion after Health Care Reform	37
Heide Castañeda
2. Stratified Access: Seeking Dialysis Care in the Borderlands	59
Milena Andrea Melo
3. Stratification and “Universality”: Immigrants and Barriers to Coverage in Massachusetts	79
Tiffany D. Joseph
4. Stratification through Medicaid: Public Prenatal Care in New York City	102
Elise Andaya
SECTION II: IMPLEMENTATION ALONG THE RED/BLUE DIVIDE	127
5. Segmented Risks: Eligibility and Resentment on Insurance Exchanges	132
Jessica M. Mulligan
6. Uninsured in America: Before and After the ACA	156
Susan Sered

7. “Texans Don’t Want Health Insurance”: Social Class and the ACA in a Red State Emily K. Brunson	177
SECTION III: THE ACA’S ACCOUNTABILITY CONTRADICTIONS
8. The Responsibility to Maintain Health: Pharmaceutical Regulation of Chronic Disease among the Urban Poor Susan J. Shaw	203 207
9. Outsourcing Responsibility: State Stewardship of Behavioral Health Care Services Cathleen E. Willging and Elise M. Trott	231
10. Increasing Access, Increasing Responsibility: Activating the Newly Insured Mary Alice Scott and Richard Wright	254
Conclusion Jessica M. Mulligan and Heide Castañeda	277
About the Editors	295
About the Contributors	297
Index	299