Acknowledgments vii

Introduction: Gender, Psychology, and Justice 1
Corinne C. Datchi and Julie R. Ancis

PART I. WOMEN AND GIRLS IN VARIOUS JUSTICE SETTINGS

1. Women and Family Court: Abuse and Contested Custody 23
Julie R. Ancis

2. Women, Domestic Violence, and the Criminal Justice System: Traumatic Pathways 48
Lenore E. A. Walker and Carlye B. Conte

3. Women, Sex Trafficking, and the Justice System: From Victimization to Restoration 75
Thema Bryant-Davis, Tyonna Adams, and Anthea Gray

Corinne C. Datchi

5. Women, Incarceration, and Reentry: The Revolving Door of Prisons 127
Elizabeth A. Lilliott, Elise M. Trott, Nicole C. Kellett, Amy E. Green, and Cathleen E. Willging

Kendra R. Brewster and Kathleen M. Cumiskey

PART II. SPECIFIC POPULATIONS OF JUSTICE-INVOLVED WOMEN AND GIRLS

7. Transwomen in the Criminal Justice System: Sans Justice 177
Alexis Forbes and Kevin L. Nadal
8. Lesbian, Bisexual, Questioning, Gender-Nonconforming, and Transgender (LBQ/GNCT) Girls in the Juvenile Justice System: Using an Intersectional Lens to Develop Gender-Responsive Programming
   Angela Irvine, Aisha Canfield, and Jessica Roa
   200

9. Women, Poverty, and the Criminal Justice System: Cyclical Linkages
   Erica G. Rojas, Laura Smith, and Randolph M. Scott-McLaughlin II
   224

    Anna Ochoa O’Leary
    254

11. Women and the Criminal Justice System: A Psychology of Men Perspective
    Jonathan Schwartz and Jennifer Bahrman
    280

Conclusion: Gender, Psychology, and Justice: The Case for Systemic Change
    Julie R. Ancis and Corinne C. Datchi
    302

About the Contributors
   311

Index
   315