COMMENTS & REASON FOR DECISION:

This round was ^{won} by the Affirmative. There were clearly more arguments that remained strong throughout the round. The Negative dropped some arguments.

COMMENTS & REASON FOR DECISION:

Aff - Neg. dropped your argument that the aggressor devalues self + therefore losses rights/interests in moral calculus - this is question-begging so be careful in future rounds.

Neg - Foot tapping during NL was distracting, of minor. Speed bordered on garble, of slowed down to comprehensible level by mid-case
First off-case: Aff dropped imminence criteria in favor of necessity in IAC - should have focused on concerns of necessity

Voting Reason

Voting got down to contention level - VC was largely a toss up as neither was able to definitively demonstrate whether self defense or autonomy is the foundational element - they seemed co-originate.

Aff shows that deadly force was necessary (rather than imminent) + is therefore a permissible (rather than excusable) response

COMMENTS & REASON FOR DECISION:

I vote negative because he gives many pieces of evidence in the round suggesting that women are engaging in the domestic violence as well. Each side is good at addressing the line by line but the AFF is of proving why deadly force is necessary.
