

Safety on The University of Tulsa Campus

As part of The University of Tulsa's ongoing commitment to the safety of our campus community, there are three areas of focus:

1. Communicate with the campus community during an urgent or emergency situation.
2. Access to safety resources prior to and during an urgent or emergency situation.
3. Ability to access help from UTulsa Security when it is needed.

Communication – UTulsaAlert

UTulsaAlert is designed to communicate time-sensitive emergency messages across several platforms to alert students, faculty, staff, contractors/vendors, visitors, and other guests of potentially dangerous situations. Messages will be sent when events on or near campus could threaten our safety. This includes weather, fire, police activity, violence, gas leak or other emergencies. An all-clear message will be sent when the threat has ended.

Safety Resources –

Safe UTulsa app

Safe UTulsa is the official safety app of The University of Tulsa, integrating campus safety and security information into an accessible and easy-to-use app. Search for Safe UTulsa on the Apple App Store and Google Play Store.

After downloading the app, there are two steps to ensure the app is ready to use:

1. Enable notifications through the pop-up screen. If you do not receive a prompt, go to About/Preferences, and then click on Notification Settings to enable notifications.
2. Move the app to the home screen on your phone so it is easily accessible.

Take some time to familiarize yourself with the resources and features available on the app. A few that might be most useful are:

- Campus Maps – Use the wayfinding maps to navigate campus, see storm shelter locations, and an interactive campus map.
- Preparation and Response Plans – Information for preparing for and responding to various emergency situations.
- Friend Walk – Provide your destination to a friend or family member who will track your progress as you travel to the destination.
