SPECIAL "SPRING FLING" BONUS ROUND EVENTS 2018

- Haiku in a Hurry: In this solo event a student will pull three prompts at random, quickly select one and have five minutes in which to prepare and present a Haiku poem (3 Lines: 5 Syllables, 7 syllables, 5 syllables) inspired by the chosen "jump start." Students may use a 3x5 index card to compose their poem and are required to read the "jumpstart" as the poem's title when they delivertheir Haiku. Judge will provide audible, verbal time signals while the student is composing their Haiku poem and visual signals once they begin to speak. Please note: In this category, it is vital to comment upon both the content and the delivery of the student's Haiku poem. Time limit: 5 minutes with a 30-second grace period including both the preparation and delivery, divided at the student's discretion. Judges must provide verbal and visual time signals.
- Impromptu Children's Literature: In this solo event a student will pull 3 short, one-page stories and quickly decide which they would like to perform. The timer begins when they make their selection. They then prepare and practice aloud to a wall while making decisions on voices, pops, gestures and tone while a judge provides audible, verbal time signals. Note: Students are not judged during practice. Once the performer is ready, they will present the piece utilizing appropriate skills to bring the story to life, using no props or costumes. Students should strive to bring the material to life in a natural, realistic and believable way. Students are required to read the title and author of the work when they begin. Judges should switch to visual time signals once the student has begun to perform. Time limit: 7 minutes with a 30-second grace period, including prep time, divided at the student's discretion. Judges must provide verbal and visual time signals.
- Impromptu Sales: In this solo event, the student will pull one image of an object (which may be familiar but most likely unknown) from a "for sale bag" and then have 5 minutes to both prepare and present a short, coherent "sales pitch" inspired by the newly named picture in hand. Students may use one 3 X 5 card to prepare. Judges should provide audible, verbal time signals while the student is preparing and then switch to visual time signals once the sales pitch begins. The presentation should have a logical beginning, middle and end and should be designed to "sell" that item to the audience. The presentation may be humorous or serious in nature and knowledge of the true function of the item is unnecessary. It is an opportunity for a contestant to be creative and imaginative. Time limit: 5 minutes with a 30 second grace period for both preparation and delivery, which may be divided at the student's discretion. Judges must provide verbal and visual time signals.

********

Novice Reading: In this solo event a student will present a selection from any of the following regular speech events: prose, children's literature, free verse/poetry, dramatic performance or declamation from a readily accessible, required test using no props or costumes. Students shouldstrive to bring the material to life using voice, facial expressions, body and gestures. Students are required to provide brief introductory remarks at some point, which must at least identify the title and author (and date and place for Declamation) of the work.
 Time limit: 7 minutes, with a 30 second grace period. Judges should offer to provide visual time signals.

Original Literature: A performance of an original piece of writing in any literary style: prose, children's literature, free verse/poetry, dramatic performance or duo delivered from text, notes or from memory by one or two students. The rules of the event that the writing falls under will govern the delivery (Ex. eye and physical contact limitation rules apply if the presentation is a duo). The material may be humorous or serious in nature, and both the writing and the delivery will be evaluated. The authorship may be collaborative but must be only student written and totally original. The introduction need only provide the title(s) and (optional) set the scene.
 Time limit: 7 minutes with a 30-second grace period. Judges should offer to provide visual time

• Team Improv: This is a two-person event. After pulling two character slips and two location/object slips the team will consult and plan with each other to create a skit utilizing the four prompts. Judges will provide audible, verbal time signals while the team prepares and switch to visual time signals once the skit begins. This event challenges the team (each portraying one character) to create a dynamic skit utilizing appropriate vocal expression, gesture, and interaction between partners. As a unit, the two performers will vocally and physically respond to each other's verbal and non-verbal cues so that the environment is created in the minds of the audience. Performers may not use notes, props or costumes. Both students should participate in the presentation and create a well-organized and balanced skit with a beginning, middle and end. It may be either humorous or serious in nature.

Time limit: 7 minutes with a 30-second grace period, including prep time, divided at the students' discretion. Judges must provide verbal and then visual time signals.

- Tongue Twister Races: In this solo event, students first check in, give their ballots to the judges, and are reminded of the speaker order. Then all but the first speaker will leave the room to wait quietly down the hall out of hearing. The first student will then be given the short tongue twister and have 30 seconds to practice it, un-judged, while timed by the judge (it is recommended that speakers practice this out loud to a wall like a warm up). The judges will inform the speaker when the practice time is complete; judges will then reset the timer and indicate they are ready. The student will then deliver the tongue twister with clarity, diction, reading for meaning and with correct pronunciation as quickly as possible but trying to be without stumbles or errors. Students will be evaluated on all these skills, and being errorless will be more important than speed. Once the student has finished, they will go into the hall and invite the next speaker into the room. They will also return to the room to serve as respectful audience for the rest of the round. 30 seconds for practice; performance has no time limit self-limiting by length.

  Judges indicate start and stop of practice time.
- You're the Expert: In this solo event a student will pull 3 "expert" titles/ professional expertise areas written on the outside of folded, sealed interview questions from a master envelope and quickly select one expert to portray (without opening or pre-reading the questions). The other two experts papers should be returned to the master envelope. The student should then hand the chosen folded interview questions to the judge, and move to the front of the room. The judge will open the expert interview questions paper, start the timer and read the interview questions, one at a time and pause to allow the student to answer each in turn. The paper will have a total of 5 questions to ask the "expert" about his/her selected field. Knowledge of the expert's field is not required and the responses may be humorous or serious in nature, however, students should strive for a natural, realistic and convincing portrayal. Content and delivery should both be evaluated. Time Limit: 7 minutes with a 30 second grace period or 5 questions, whichever comes first.
