

Hunger impacts a child's ability to thrive academically and puts them at risk for adverse health outcomes. Low-income families rely on healthy school meals to bridge gaps in their food budgets, so where can they turn when school is out? The Summer Food Service Program is a federally-funded nutrition program that provides free meals to youth ages 18 and under. Over 80% of children are at home during the summer without access to transportation. Summer meals sites at housing complexes can fill this gap by providing a site close to home. The community dynamics, amenities, and on-site management staff can support a pleasant environment for a summer meal site.

Wholesome summer meals are critical to the health and well-being of our children. Join us for our 2018 Summer Meals Webinars to learn more about this important USDA program.
