

Amazon Topical Ungating Guide

Welcome to the official guide for Getting Ungated in Topicals on Amazon in 2020 and hopefully beyond.

My name is Chris Grant and I am an admin of FBA Today, I also have a blog focused on reselling at ClearTheShelf.com, and I have a Youtube Channel focused on reselling as well.

You may also be interested in checking out The OA Challenge. A 14-Day intensive all about the art and science of online arbitrage.

I would love to have you join me in the group or on Youtube.

Instructions

First you will make sure you have closed any open applications you may have for the brand or the category you are trying to get ungated in.

You will also need to ensure you have chosen an ASIN that you can use to get ungated with in the Topicals category.

Create an account with Frontier Co-Op Wholesale here: wholesale.frontiercoop.com. Alternatively you could use Pricemaster (higher minimum order) or even DollarDays.

Here is an example of an ASIN and its corresponding Amazon product detail page you can use:

I would not suggest that everyone uses this exact match. There are plenty of lotions, scrubs, lip balms and other topicals where you will be able to find matches.

Submitting Your Invoices

When submitting your invoice you will either want to annotate it electronically using a software like Jing or print it out and annotate it by hand.

Make sure you have purchased at least 10 units. Remember it's about getting ungated, not making a profit.

You will need to write or type the ASIN next to the item on the invoice. Make it clear (highlighting and using arrows) so that it is impossible for the support agent to make a mistake.

Amazon will require you to submit at least one (1) purchase invoice from a manufacturer or distributor. It will need to be dated within the last 180 days. Include your name and address (these will need to match what you have on file with Amazon). Include the name and address of the manufacturer or distributor. Show the combined purchase of at least 10 units. Omit pricing information (optional).

Amazon may, at their discretion verify your submitted invoices and they may contact the wholesaler or distributor.

IMPORTANT

When submitting your invoices for a topical item they will require that you take photos of the item and submit them along with the invoice(s).

Be sure that the photos are crystal clear. Make sure you take photos of all sides of the product. You must also make sure that the name of the manufacturer as well as the ingredients can be easily seen in the photos.

Most any camera on a smartphone should be able to handle this if you have good lighting.

Sometimes it is helpful to take these photos while the product is in your hand to show that you have it in your possession. There is no hard evidence of that being the case but there are anecdotal stories of this being the case.

Last Things to Know

Remember you are dealing with Amazon and at times they make decisions that baffle us.

If you are not approved the first time but you have dotted your i's and crossed your T's be patient, submit your information, and keep a cool head.

At the time of this writing we are experiencing a global pandemic and things may be moving a bit slower than normal as well. Be aware of that and don't get frustrated if you aren't approved straight away
