

PRESS RELEASE 11. AUG. 2020: PARTNERSHIP AGREEMENT

CockpitCoaches.com and BeFit2Fly Ltd., represented by Martin Stork and Andrea Biundo respectively, proudly announce establishing a partnership agreement between the two organizations. Both entities share the vision of providing pilots with professional support to successfully maneuver the current crisis in the aviation industry.

BeFit2Fly serves pilots, aviation professionals as well as frequent travellers by providing in depth training and support in physical fitness and nutrition. BeFit2Fly's support system is tailored around the unique requirements that both aviators and business travellers are facing on a daily basis.

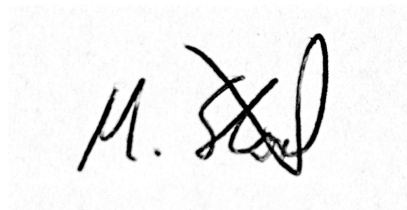

Cockpit Coaches serves airline pilots by providing support to build resilience around their careers through the Pilot Realignment Program. By exploring professional opportunities outside the cockpit, as well as regaining control in times of redundancy and furlough, Cockpit Coaches has created powerful methods for airline pilots to navigate through turbulent times in the aviation industry.

CockpitCoaches.com and BeFit2Fly are both covering physical and mental health aspects as part of our respective programs on different levels. In order to open up our joint expertise to a wider community, our collaboration agreement provides joint discount packages on the services of both partners.

We are certain that our collaboration will help to support even more fellow aviators in these challenging times.
