

Dallas' List of Recommended Coaches for Actors

Ajarae Coleman - ActingResourceGuru.com

Acting Resource Guru is the best online resource for actors around, hands down. It's kinda like Yelp just for actors, but that description doesn't do it justice. Plus, Ajarae offers high-level private mentorship to actresses ready to become power players.

Aaron Hutchinson - ActorsBusinessCollective.com

Aaron is the Dallas Travers of the Vancouver, Canada market. He's a great coach with a lot of business savvy. If you want to be a working actor in Vancouver, he's the only person to work with.

Bill Coelius - WorkingActorSolution.com

If you want to become a commercial booking machine, Bill will teach you exactly how to do that. Bill's all about service and that's what he helps his actors do too. When you walk into an audition or on set from the mindset of "How can I help?", your performance is more genuine, and your likability factor soars.

Bret Shuford - BroadwayLifeCoach.com

Bret helps Broadway actors find balance as they create a thriving career and maintain a full and fulfilling personal life. He's worked on Broadway for years, so if you need a roadmap to get your career started, he's the guy to go to.

DaJuan Johnson - ThinkBiggerCoaching.com

DaJuan is a working actor sure to book a series regular in the next year or two. He has first hand knowledge about what works best and his mindset tools will keep you grounded and happy so you can be a working actor too.

Elise Arsenault - TheGlobalActor.com

Elise hosts small group coaching for actors who want to live where they want and work when they want. She's especially experienced with voiceover acting and audio books.

Heather Hiatt - MagneticActorMethod.com

Oh! How I wish Heather had launched her business forever ago! Her Magnetic Actor Method is designed to help you truly know yourself, infuse that into every role, and feel confident no matter what in the audition room.

Heidi Dean - Marketing4Actors.com

There is nobody better for social media training than Heidi Dean. Nobody. Plus, you will never meet a kinder human being on planet Earth.

Jo Kelly - ToBeOrNotToAct.com

I've never met a teacher like Jo Kelly. She's a rebel and doesn't believe in gurus, methods, or any other tricks. Instead, she takes actors on a 30 day journey to unlock, exercise, and trust your instrument so you become unstoppable. It's remarkable stuff that will change you!

Jo-Ann Pantoja - JoAnnPantoja.com

Jo-Ann is part of the team over at Annie Grindlay Studio. She turns actors into auditioning all-stars who book the job with confidence. What makes Jo-Ann special is her big heart. Plus she's a working actor and she infuses business strategy into her classes.

Leslie Becker - OrganizedActor.com

Sure, Leslie will help you get your career organized, but she does so much more than that! If you need to reboot your career or reinvent your casting, Leslie's your gal. Everything she does is designed to spark and leverage your creativity to move the needle in your career.

Loren Chadima - IntentionalActing.com

Loren's adult and kids classes rely on simple, repeatable formulas Loren has developed to help you feel confident in auditions and on set.

Tammy Lynn - SpotLightPRCompany.com

Don't wait until you book a series to work with a publicist! By then, it's too late. Tammy can help you leverage the roles you book now (or the films you make!) to build buzz and attract even more work later. She's the only publicist for actors that I recommend.

Wendy Davis + Emily Grace - ActingPros.com

These ladies are the real deal. In fact, I'm going to pass a couple of my courses on to them so they can carry the torch. Acting Pros created the Audition Game Plan. It's the process that helped Wendy book a series regular on Army Wives and then another one on OWN's most recent scripted series. Emily is a smart cookie with producing and marketing experience, so her tools and insight on how to get more auditions are totally on point. Together, they're a dream team.