LESSON NINE AND TEST.
TRINITY

BASIC LESSON ON FENG SHUI.
THIS LESSON HAS THREE PAGES.

Are you ready to dive in?

Feng Shui. In Chinese feng means wind and shui means water, the stuff between heaven and earth. Invisible life energy that is Chi. If there is a mess around you the chi will bring chaos to you because it gets lost in the confusion of the mess. If there is tidiness around you the chi will bring calm to your life because there is nothing to get caught in. Your environment is very important. Chi goes through everything, through you, through your home, through your work place, over mountains and churches, rivers and oceans, through the whole universe, it is a life force.

Many things can cause the chi to bring damage to your life. Like a river flowing calmly at first as it goes over the smooth rocks on a nice curvy slope but as the rock become more jagged and the slope becomes more straight the river goes to fast and starts to cause more chaos around it, that is the same for chi, it likes to flow smoothly.

There are many things you can do to fix bad chi. If there are long straight lines where the chi can get going too fast put a plant or a chime or something nice in the middle to slow the chi down, like on the side of my house there needed to be a something there to slow the chi down and make it flow over nicely and then go on its way to the next nice curve. You can always fix bad chi with something.

In feng shui they use eight ancient trigrams from the I-CHING. A solid line yang, positive and a broken line yin, negative. Yin Yang, which is at the root of the Chinese universe, male/female, light/dark, good/bad. These lines done three at a time make eight combinations of a trigram. Along with the five elements to pull in the positive chi and the eight directions you now have a pa kua.

You use a pa kua to let you know the areas that need work around you. Then you use certain things to help the chi find you. For example if you want more money you put water/red or money in your money/wealth corner of your home. If you want Love you put pairs/red things in your relationship/partnership part of your home.

Health is in the middle of your home, healthy plants, living things, light reflecting things, electric things will help you there. You must always leave the toilet seat down when you are done because water represents money and if you leave the toilet seat up, use it, flush it, it's like flushing money down the drain. For partnerships also put pairs around the house, couple things up. To start always use the Pa kua at the main entrance of your house/office/area and at the entrance of each room.

There is so much more you can learn in this subject like using the lo shu, magic square. The ten heavenly stems and the twelve earthly branches. The 24 compass directions and calculating your personal magic number, you can go so much deeper if you want. One thing's for sure Feng Shui will make your life better in the long run.
Have fun.

Wedding Trip Across Canada

April 29 2007. Jeff and I left on the train for our wedding/honeymoon trip across Canada. Pam dropped us off at the Mission train station. We were on the train for three nights and four days. Romance by rail, double room, bottle of wine, fruit, cheese, crackers and chocolate, every night in our room, on our bed. We brought our DVD movie player and watched movies at night it was unbelievably romantic. Mission to Toronto, just beautiful and lots of fun. The train has so much to see on it, the dome car is where you can see all the sights and sounds of the ride, they even have a bar and restaurant which was all included in our package, all very cool things. The food was absolutely excellent, gourmet, the service was the best I have ever had, outstanding. Stopped in Jasper, it is a wonderful little town, just Loved it. Then a small stop in the Winnipeg train station, nice. Then to Toronto, which was fabulous, we were there for two days, Loved the hotel, they upgraded us, it was an old fashioned hotel with a Jacuzzi in the bathroom, a fire place in the living room and a great big bed, truly the best. Went to the CN tower, wow amazing views. Then to Casa Loma, I seen a ghost guy, he was wearing a blue/green uniform with a round floppy type hat on, he walked up to me but he stopped because Jeff just stood in front of me, first time I have seen anything like that. Then we went to the zoo in a limo because it was cheaper than a taxi, the guy at the hotel recommended it, we loved the zoo, such a sunny day walking around the big zoo seeing all the animals, lion, tigers, giraffes, zebras and monkeys, I even got a little burnt. Toronto is a wonderful place. Then we took the train to Niagara Falls to get married, we were there for five days, they upgraded us in this hotel also, wow, what a view you could see the falls from our bed and from the Jacuzzi in the bathroom, very high class. There was a Keg on the bottom floor of our hotel, delicious. We went to Niagara on the Lake, beautiful little town, the taxi guy gave us a tour on the way, all about the vineyards and the history of the houses and the town and about being next to New York, I didn't know that, bonus tip for our taxi guy. Then on May 8 2007 just after 10:00 in the morning, we got married, so very beautiful, lovely, I'm absolutely thrilled about being married. I really felt Cori there on that day, Shirley too. What a special day. The whole thing took an hour then we were back at the hotel. Next we went on that trolley thing you could see from our room. Jeff said he saw and he said he dreamed about that thing years ago. All the daffodils and the tulips are in bloom and we have had sun every day, it's been just the best trip ever so far. Now we went to Montreal on the day train, we got a gourmet lunch, it was delicious. The train station in Montreal is huge like a mall. We went out to get a taxi to our hotel, the taxi guys didn't want to take us, they sent us on a wild goose chase for a cab, after about 15 minutes I said to Jeff lets go back to the station and talk to someone there, they got us a cab and the guy in the cab wasn't very happy about taking us to our hotel, some not very nice people here so far. The outside of our hotel looks so beautiful, we got a nice room with a balcony. One of the guys that works here is really nice and the other one is not. It is so hot and humid out. We went to a wonderful church, St Joseph very beautiful, gorgeous garden to walk through with statues of the crucifixion history, we walked around the city, nice parks with huge squirrels and fountains, fun. On the last day we went to the train station for eight hours because it was air conditioned and the people were nicer in there, we will never go back to Montréal again, spectacular place but some of the people didn't seem to want us there at all and they let us know we were NOT welcome. We felt like unwanted company. Then we took the train to Halifax, one night on a different train, the rooms were so much smaller and I had a claustrophobic fit and had to go to the sitting room for a while thank God we only had to be in there one night, this train is nice but the other train was way bigger and better. Halifax is so beautiful a lot like BC, we went to Peggy's Cove, Loved it. We went in our rented car and drove along the coast, which had small pebbles rather than sand there, different, I didn't expect that, I got some. Stopped for fish and chips, delicious, wow, just amazing, we were there for two days. The hotel we stayed in was really nice they got us chocolate and wine with a really nice note. I had the best seafood ever in the restaurant in the hotel. Then we walked around by the lake that was right beside our hotel, I got some sand from there and some dried purple flowers too for my thing I'm going to do about sand from each coast. We enjoyed Halifax so much, such friendly people and still sun all the way every day. Our whole trip has been better than I thought it could ever be, best trip I have ever been on, so much to see, I don't want it to end. The next day we went to get a plane home, my first FULL plane trip, I was very nervous but in the end I liked the plane ride, all together 6 hours Halifax to Alberta then 2 hours and we were in Abbotsford, home. That was the best trip ever, coast to coast, we took a train across Canada and it was amazing. Everyone should do this. May 14 2007 we got home, we had the wedding party on May 19 2007. Another wonderful day with our friends and family. Our life is great. Jeff and I BELIEVE we will live happily ever after.

The beginning.

Friday Sept. 14 2007. The girls got me, since we were doing everything backwards, Jeff and I had our boys, then we met and we got our house, then we got married, backwards, that's what I wanted, they gave me a wedding shower at the end of everything. Wow it was so nice, 13 ladies, (one came in later) great restaurant, great food and great friends, they spoiled us, life is wonderful!!

THANK YOU GOD FOR EVERYTHING. WE'RE SO HAPPY!!!

Did you know?

-The belief MITHRAISM from before Christ, was based on myths.

-Apollo from Egypt, Mithra the sun God and Jesus, all three of these stories are sort of the same.

This is not a recruitment. I do not want you to believe in what I believe. I want you to believe in what you want to believe. We should not have exactly the same belief. Be yourself, be different. Believe in what you want in the way you want. Work for the light in your own way, in your own time. That is what I believe. Am I the only one?

The desire to have religion/belief has been constant in human history, having religion/belief leads to spiritual wisdom and growing. Some say the ancient Egyptian magic now known as the thoth (tarot), vanished forever beneath the ocean. But some verbal tradition was saved and was passed down through the generations. It is now used in Kabbalah, which is a vast and complex system of esoteric teaching. Kabbalah is Jewish in origin. Fortune telling in what ever way you like to do it, is right for you at that time, whether it be from the very old times like Kabbalah or from things that have come a long time after that, have fun with it, always be kind and I'm sure you will be fine. Learn at your own pace and your own way. Have fun.

NOTE: Never use the Ouija board, it can call in the lower vibrations, very dangerous. They could follow you for the rest of your life and you don't want that. I know I have played with the Ouija board before as you have read, but I have heard some real scary things that have happened to people while using a Ouija board. It's up to you but don't say I didn't warn you. If you do decide to use one be ever so careful and protect yourself with prayer and sage but I wouldn't try it if I were you.

As I have said before I'm sure there are many beliefs that I have missed and over time I'm excited to add and subtract to my belief system, change is good for the soul. Plus I'm sure there are many sources that I have over looked about where everything came from, can't wait to find out what I've missed and to add it to my belief system. I'm going to have a great time in this school (planet earth). I Love reading and learning and I can't wait to read my next book.

IN THE END.

After some time I felt more secure, confident and comfortable with myself and I didn't have as much need for all my life tools, except prayer. I will always turn to my life tools in times of need for comfort and guidance. For me these life tools helped me grow and become a more happy, compassionate and loving soul. I'm thankful that I was able to use the life tools that worked for me. I'm very pleased that most of the world let's people believe in what they need to believe at the time they need to believe it. I'm so thrilled to be alive in this day and time. I'm exactly where I'm supposed to be right now and so are you.

FEB. 22 2008.

I just read the book, 'The Dancing Wu Li Masters' by Gary Zukav, wow, wow, wow. The first time ever that I have read anything on Physics. This is the theory I believe:

I believe Quantum mechanics (thoughts) become quantum physics (reality) through your aether mind and free will.

First you think some thoughts with your aether mind. Then you use your free will to start to create them. You now have quantum mechanics in action. As you think about all the details big and small and you also deal with your own personal karma bad and good, over time it becomes quantum physics (reality). Everything is thought of first.

What do you think of this reverse theory?

Because I found out about all the beliefs/ religions of the world first. Then I read a bit about physics and science things second. I have a unique way of seeing the world, I do lots of things backward and being dyslexic helped. Who would have thought that having so many disabilities would have been such a good way for me to learn? God knew.

The secret to life is moderation, everything in moderation, always.

I said they have lots of names like the Iddy Bittys, Fluffy and her son Puffy and many more. The colors of the squirrels are brown, gray and black and yes some are nice and some are mean just like humans. The boys wanted to hear more but there mother said come on boys let's go. I Thought to myself while I was packing the grocery's and loading them in the car, those boys wanted to hear more, wow. That is when I knew I did have a children's story after all. I don't have to run a daycare to get ideas. I can get a children's story from what is going on in my life right now. ## THE SQUIRREL STORIES

PART ONE, INTRO.

Squirrels turned out to be a wonderful part of mine and Jeff's life, they were such a gift. So in the end I did have a children's story to tell after all. Because it really did happen here in the back forest. This is the story of our squirrels. In total at one time we had at the most about 12 or 13 and they were here for about eight years. When Jeff and I lived in the townhouse, I would feed the stellar jays. They would come right in the house for peanuts. I took a picture of it. Then when we moved here I continued feeding the stellar jays. For two years the stellar jays were the only ones coming for the peanuts. Then one day it started with Tilt, a male black squirrel that had a tilt and Limpy, who was a grey squirrel that had a limp. Half tail was a grey squirrel that had half a tail; she seemed old. They came looking for food and shelter because humans were clearing the back far left part of the forest for townhouses. The first night that they cleared the big trees, after all the workmen had gone home, for the whole evening and into the night you could hear squirrels crying loudly, making strange calls of danger, it was such a sad night. I guess that is why they all headed this way. I myself am disabled so I really felt for these disabled, homeless squirrels that were coming to my back door for peanuts. I decided to feed them every day for as long as I am able to. After all they were here first.

TILT, SAMANTHA, FLUFFY AND PUFFY.

Tilt was so funny because he couldn't walk that well. I mean he couldn't walk in a straight line that well. He would come running to me for a peanut the best he could; he didn't see that well either but he would always be able to seek out the peanuts. I would throw a peanut his way and he would always get it. It was cute to watch and I got him on video. I would coax Tilt to come into the house, it was easy with peanuts, and I would always have peanuts in my pocket. Tilt never stayed very long, but it was fun when he would come into the house even for a little while. We had a good time together. I really enjoyed video taping Tilt, the few times I got him on film. What a special fellow he was to us. Then one day another black squirrel came around here. I thought it was another male so I called it Sam. It turned out Sam was a female, so then Sam became Samantha. When Samantha was a newbie I think she was the one that did the wall crawl but I'm not sure. Well Tilt and Samantha decided to have a black baby, we named her fluffy. The picture below is of pregnant Samantha.

Fluffy was so very cute and extra fluffy, that's how she got her name. She was also such a friendly squirrel, not afraid of anything. So friendly that my husband would try to feed her by hand. But fluffy didn't have very good eyes just like her father. Jeff was trying to feed her, and Fluffy thought Jeff's finger was a peanut. Fluffy took a little nip of Jeff's finger - just a small mark, no blood at all. Jeff pulled his hand back and Fluffy went flying. It scared both of them but I think it scared Fluffy way more because she didn't come to the door for a long time after that. Then after a while she got used to Jeff again and we decided to only throw the peanuts to them instead of trying to feed them by hand, like we did in the beginning, to keep them wild. As time went by Tilt and Samantha decided to move away but Fluffy stayed here. Fluffy was so much fun and smarter than her parents. The first few years we were feeding the squirrels they were really hungry and they came out in the winter. They all ate and ate and ate, right in the snow. I got it on video. All the squirrels got fatter and fatter. Then some of them went for their long sleep. Fluffy stayed up the longest, her personality was so nice and she was such good company. Then she finally went for her sleep too.

The next spring when Fluffy woke up from her winter sleep, she had a very cute little black baby boy with her. We called him Puffy because he is just as fluffy as his mom. What a team those two were; amazing to watch. The training that Fluffy was showing her baby boy Puffy. He learned so fast from her that it was ok to come to us and get peanuts. Now every year in the spring, Fluffy and Puffy grace us with their presence. They are always the last to get up and the last to go down - well sometimes one of the mamas it still around because she had her babies late. Over the years some of the squirrels have stayed around and some of them have gone. But for a long time now, Fluffy and Puffy have entertained us for the five or six months that they are here. We just Love it so much.

I heard a rumor that if a grey squirrel and a black squirrel have a baby, sometimes the baby might be white. I have past video of Fluffy, our little black girl squirrel and a cute grey boy squirrel snuggling together on one of our lawn chairs. I hope one day we will get a surprise white squirrel at the back door; wouldn't that be the greatest thing ever. In 2010 we got a black squirrel with a white spot on his behind so we called him White Spot. He was only here for a short time; hope to see him again soon.

PART TWO

TRAINING, THE MAMAS AND THE PAPAS AND NEWBIES.

Limpy had hurt his leg but he was fine at getting the peanuts. Soon after he came here, Limpy was walking fine again. We had more grey squirrels coming around by then, and we would get all the grey squirrels mixed up. It was hard to tell which one was which, and hard to give them names because, unless they had a mark on them or something that would stand out, we couldn't tell one grey squirrel from another. So we called the girl squirrels mamas and the boy squirrels the papas. The new squirrels that came to the house in the spring were called the newbies because the new ones would always run away from us at first. Then they would watch the squirrels that knew us and would learn to come running up to us instead of away from us. The newbies would learn to come to us by watching the squirrels that knew us; they would learn not to be afraid of us. It would take a while, but sooner or later the newbies would no longer be newbies anymore. Squirrels learn fast, they are very smart, easy to train. The squirrels probably thought that I was easy to train also because almost every time one of them would come to the door, I would jump up and go over to feed them a peanut. Who's training who? Anyway it made us both happy. I would put peanuts on the chairs and table and the squirrels would always end up finding them. In the summer I would sit on the couch and the squirrels would lounge in the house with me on really hot days. They would come in to cool off. Some were braver than others and they would come right into the living room. Some would even jump on the couch with me, they would get the peanut and go. I have lots of this on video. There was one really mean squirrel with a dark nose that we called Hisler. His offspring were very mean also, they all had dark noses, the mean ones, and they really looked like their father. But after a few nice mamas came into the picture, Hisler's kids became nicer. Over time I don't know what happened to Hisler but his kids found out that they didn't have to fight so much for their food around here, and they became calmer. The last one I saw that had a dark nose was very happy to come and feed with the rest of the squirrels. He fit right in, and it was nice to see the progress of the Hislers.

One day I was watching the squirrels eating and I noticed that they talk to each other with their eyes and some body language. They have a danger call, which they always do when there is a cat or a hawk or when the beautiful white owl couple come here to find their prey. I would watch the squirrels talk to each other in many different ways. Some things, like nipping at another squirrel, were straightforward. It meant, get away. While other things were subtler, like blinking their eyes, which said, I am nice, and moving their mouth like they were eating seemed to mean, I will share with you. I watched it over and over. Every time one squirrel would blink his eyes and move his mouth like it was eating, then the other squirrel would always be allowed to share their food with the one that made the subtle gesture. Some squirrels seemed to have family around them but they also seemed to have friends around them. I tried to do the eye blinking and mouth moving at the same time to the squirrels and then I would give them a peanut. I don't know if they understood that I was saying, I would share with them. Every time I did it to a squirrel, the squirrel would stop dead in its tracks and come straight to me. I of course would like to believe that they knew what I was saying. I will always share with them for as long as I can, whether they understood me or not. I have learned so much about the squirrels from watching them over the years and I am blessed and grateful for the experiences.

PART THREE

HALF TAIL AND IDDY BITTY

Half tail was the grey matriarch of the forest, she had lots of babies. One time in the spring, I was cleaning the balcony and a cute little brown baby squirrel with those big beautiful eyes came right up on the deck with me, and didn't seem scared at all. Very curious. Then Half tail came over and gave the little one big trouble for being there with me, she chased this new adorable breed back into the forest. Over time we figured out that Half tail was the foster mom to the little cute one, wow amazing. I was telling one of my friends about the new arrival, and I was saying it's the cutest little itty-bitty squirrel. I said I had never ever seen such a small squirrel like that before. She said why don't you call him Iddy Bitty? That was perfect, so that is the little brown ones name now, Iddy Bitty. Jeff and I looked on the Internet to see what kind of squirrel Iddy Bitty was. We decided he looked the most like a Douglas Squirrel, so that is what we think Iddy Bitty is. Iddy Bitty soon grew up, and fit into the eco-system in the back very well. He had no problem getting the peanuts, and was way faster then the other squirrels. As a matter of fact, Iddy Bitty was the most aggressive out of all the squirrels. The grey ones are the least aggressive, then the black ones are next and then Iddy Bitty is the ruler of the balcony and the forest. I have this on video. As time went by, Iddy Bitty became a daddy with one of the mamas and he took care of his baby girl always with the help of grandma Half tail.

Because when my twin Jody and I were born my mom and pop got us some nice silver plates, mine had a bunny on it and my twin had a squirrel on it, I decided to call the new girl Iddy Bitty Jody, in honor of my twin sister. The first Iddy Bitty is called the daddy and they are the Iddy Bittys now. So it's more like a last name. Jody is smaller than daddy and so cute. They have different personalities just like all the squirrels do. Jody is not afraid of anything; she is the bravest one out of all the animals from the forest. Soon I was training her to come into the house. I have that on video. Now in the summer some of the braver squirrels came into the house to lounge around on the carpets and Iddy Bitty would come and get a peanut from the couch. I just Love it, and got it on video. One day when it was raining outside, I didn't notice Iddy Bitty and she decided to come down the chimney. Jeff and I heard the fire screen being rattled. We looked and Iddy Bitty was in the fireplace. I laughed and let her out but not until I got her a peanut first. Jeff said no way; he didn't want her coming down the fireplace chimney. I tried not to feed her when she did the chimney thing but she still came down the chimney over and over again, she came down when my sister Pam was over once. Pam heard the fireplace screen being rattled. We thought it was funny, but Jeff didn't like it. Then one day Iddy Bitty came down the chimney and Jeff really yelled at her in a deep voice. She ran up the chimney and went outside. Jody has never ever gone that way again. But we still feed her through the back balcony and the kitchen window and downstairs. Jeff is ok with that.

One summer we had a new Iddy Bitty find Jody. We decided to call him George. Jody and George, they make a cute couple. George is bigger then Jody and the daddy, a strong young man. I was talking to Jay. I said wouldn't it be cute if Iddy Bitty had a baby with George. Jay said we could call the baby Iddy Bitty a Bitty Iddy. Man is that ever cute! I hope it happens. As time went by most of the squirrels went for their winter sleeps. Everyone slept through the winter. Then in the spring most of the squirrels were up and looking for food. I waited and waited. It had been seven months and still no Iddy Bittys. I was thinking that something had happened to them or they had moved away. No squirrel has ever slept this long that I know of. Then much to my surprise, Iddy Bitty Jody came with a baby... a Bitty Iddy! Wow so cute. Very little, and my goodness it was fast. It had those big baby eyes, we all fell in Love. We didn't see much of the Iddy Bitty's that summer, but once in a while one of them would come out. I wish I could have got a picture of the baby when it was younger but it was so fast and then just didn't come out that much anymore.

Actually that was the summer we didn't have as many squirrels as we'd had before. In 2010 there were about eight squirrels in total at one time. I'm sure in future years, we will have some more because I hear they are going to do some more clearing in the back forest for more townhouses. I'm glad that they are not allowed to build very close to the creek anymore. At least there will be some space for the eco-system that is living in the back forest. I will help the squirrels and all the wildlife that is living here as much as I can. They are my friends. I was out shopping and when I came home Jeff told me the story of how Half tail was out from her hibernation and she was so skinny that her ribs were showing. All the other squirrels wouldn't let her eat any of the peanuts. Jeff was trying to get Half tail one but the other squirrels would always take it away from her. Then Iddy Bitty daddy came onto the scene. Jeff thought that the Iddy Bitty would chase her away and was concerned for Half tail. But Iddy Bitty daddy remembered the times when Half tail helped him as a baby and he chased all the other squirrels away and let her eat. Wow, such a loyal son, and such a nice thing to hear about, and for Jeff to see. That was a good summer for Half tail. She got stronger and healthier and the daddy was always there to help her when she needed him. It was also the last summer we saw Half tail. She must have crossed over to the other side. I wonder how old she was? She was a good hard-working mother and soul, we will all miss her. I'm glad I got video and pictures of our beautiful Half tail. Picture below of Half tail.

PART FOUR MORE SQUIRREL STORIES AND SOME STORIES OF THE OTHER WILDLIFE THAT LIVE AROUND HERE.

I have a few pictures of squirrel footprints in the snow, really cool. I remember one time I was walking into the bedroom and Jody was putting a peanut under the bed. She then jumped onto the bed and looked at me. I threw a peanut from my pocket it into the hallway and then Jody got it, and found her way out. In the summer when we leave the door open in the back, the squirrels come on in, and they are right at home here. They see us, we give them a peanut and they go running back into the forest with it. Sometimes when there is chocolate out they will take that too. They like chocolate. When we run out of peanuts sometimes I have given them peanut butter on a cracker and they like that also. It's funny to watch them eat peanut butter. One time one of the newbies was crawling on the house. I was inside but I could hear it. I wanted to get video of the wall crawl so I grabbed my camera and ran outside. The black newbie ran across the white wall and jumped back into the forest and I got that on video, so cool. I think it was Samantha, but am not sure. Another really cool thing that happened was I was writing at the dining room table and looking out the window, which I do so I can see the squirrels. You don't know how many times I have stopped to feed the squirrels while I was writing. Anyway I was writing and I saw a grey mama carry a baby from the roof onto the balcony and into the forest. I ran and got my camera and she took three more babies into the forest, two black babies and two grey babies, four in total. That was another very interesting thing I got on video. We just Love living here. There is a lot of activity downstairs with Jeff and the squirrels also. One day downstairs at the patio door Jeff was feeding Iddy Bitty Jody and he was tired of getting up and down for her so he left the bag of peanuts out and made it self-serve. I thought that was so cute because I have to admit I have done that also. Picture of Iddy Bitty getting peanuts.

I have lots of that self-serve thing on video. It is so nice living with a green belt behind us, the wildlife that you see is amazing. We have seen an opossum only once, and we have had a raccoon come here a few times during the day in the summer. They say that raccoons will only come out during the day when they are really hungry, so I feed them peanuts and things. I've got that on video. Picture below of raccoon.

The different birds that we have seen are so many, like the two white owls, a couple. They are wonderful to see. During the day they landed on the balcony and we were so close, they were very beautiful. They must have been really hungry. We've had hawks here many times. I think they think I'm fattening up the squirrels for them, but I am not. Every time the birds of prey come around during the day the squirrels do their call of danger. I guess it is just the circle of life. I have heard some pretty scary things come out of the forest at night, plus I have seen an owl get a mouse in front of my house once. Nighttime is when the birds of prey come out most of the time.

Jeff has even made friends with the crows, he calls one of them Magic because he has two white feathers on the top of his head. Another Jeff calls Kid Crow, which we think is Magic's son. Magic came with a mate and they had a few crow kids. Did you know crows mate for life and they are super smart. The woodpeckers are here sometimes also. The robins come and go each year but pretty much keep to themselves. The little chickadees are some of the bravest ones. They will take the peanuts even if they are bigger than themselves. The chickadees will land right beside you. I swear if I was to put some seeds in my hand I think they would eat right out of my hand. I have never gotten a chickadee on video because they are too fast. There are so many birds to see, that I can't name them all, but there are many. I have even heard and seen seagulls. I enjoy them all a lot. We have a creek in the forest and many times in the summer I have heard the ducks hanging out there. One day Dan, one of Jay's friends, said he saw a duck come from the forest through the back of the house and then around the side of the house and to the front of the house. Then he took off flying; cute.

2011, we are having such poor weather and not many squirrels are here. There are only about three. For some reason, not as many are coming this year. Oct. 2011, a grey momma and her young black baby are here but every time I try to feed them, they run away. Nov. 2011, Puffy came out to show the young one that it is ok to take food from us. It took a long time for the newbie to see it was ok, so we called him Shaggy. Now Shaggy is taking peanuts from us. Puffy and the momma went to sleep. Dec 2011, Shaggy went to sleep. Late Feb 2012, we saw Shaggy and his mom a few times. I wonder what this next year will bring.

Picture below is of a duck we saw in 2011

We have seen a few colorful humming birds, they are so cool. Lots of times I have seen eagles while I was sitting in my living room looking out our front window. I have seen two to four eagles soaring around and around for a long time right in front of our house, which is just wonderful. I have also seen a crane land here once or twice. Living here is such fun, always something going on in the back forest and in front of the house. There's so much to see. We are very blessed and so thankful that we have the opportunity to mix with nature. We Love living here. It's the very best life can bring and we couldn't be happier. Thank you Universe, thank you. More to come I'm sure. Written by Tina the Christian Psychic.

I filmed the squirrels and all the funny things they did, which you can look at if you are interested. I went from winter to spring to summer to fall in that order.
