- OUR FATHER WHO ART IN HEAVEN, HALLOWED BE THY NAME.

A WORD ABOUT: THE DARK FORCES.

You must embrace and respect your dark side... everyone has one. When God made this earth in all its glory, he did not want anything to be evil. There is a difference between dark and evil. A knife can be used for good dark like surgery or evil dark like murder. The evil which humans see in the world comes from within us. It is humans that make God's creations good or evil. When we feel bad about something then emotions such as fear, worry and concern are from our dark side. These emotions can help us too, fear can show us our boundaries, worry can show us our own life lessons and concern can show us our compassion. The dark side can be used as a warning sign, a red flag to guild us in the right direction. Just as dark forces work through negative emotions, the light forces work through positive emotions, like Love, kindness and happiness. The dark and the light work together for God. God made everything for a reason, including the dark. Humans turned the dark into evil, with lots of persuasion from the devil.

What would we do without our mistakes? We would never learn anything. You must have the dark to see the light. You can look up into the night sky and see total darkness... until you see a star and then another and another, you would not have seen the light without the dark and visa versa. When you are in the dark always ask what light am I to see from this? Evil is not in control of the dark, God is in control of the dark. God is in control of everything and God will never give you more then your soul can handle. God overrides the devil and his evil. Just as long as you know the difference between right/wrong; Love/hate; light/dark; good/evil; then you should be a good human. Work toward the light.

It's like God gave the devil the worst job ever but the most needed for us humans, to show us the light through the dark. (Some of us need tough Love such as being taught not to do something because it is bad for us, like smoking, dinking too much or driving too fast.) With free will, three-dimensional humans control their own emotions, dark and light. There is good dark and bad dark, good dark is fixing a cavity, bad dark is hurting for fun. There is good light and bad light, good light is charity, bad light is a sheep in wolf's clothing. Something bad happens from the light or the dark and it's not what happened, it's how you handle it that counts to God, he knows your intentions. Everyone here has good and bad karma (universal law: law of physics, or what goes around comes around). After something dark happens to you do you put dark back into the world or do you use it to put light back into the world? That is the question.

Everything is to return to God, the light and the dark. Light is where you want to be, it's more comfortable. In the daytime it is light, at night it is dark but there are always star lights, such is life. So next time you are worried or mad, ask yourself how is this to show me the light and what am I to learn from this? When you are happy, stay there and Love it, don't ask, now what bad thing could happen? Just be happy; you deserve it; learn that. Evil dark will end up light, then the devil will have helped humans after all. Until then we need dark and light to learn. Thank you God for giving us dark and light to use at our own free will. Let's show the universe that positive/light emotions will be the end result. They must be. Love is the only answer.

The way I see it God is in control. God created everything on earth and in heaven, humans and angels, everything everywhere. God and everything he created will be here forever and ever, amen. God made karma for the good and the bad, what you reap you shall also sew, for the good and the bad. Now if one of God's creations was trying to take dark to evil, which is over God's line, then Karma must come into play. God has many helpers, Michael, the archangel is just one of them. All the archangels help God in these areas. Just as authority punishes people, or parents punish a child to teach them that evil is not the way home to God, so must God punish the devil for trying to take over with his own agenda, letting evil go too far.

Good will always triumph over evil in the end. That is what God wants all of his creations to believe will happen. The devil did not want to serve man, he was jealous of man because God loved us so much. Now the devil must show man light through the dark, that is how the devil is serving man now. Who better for the worst job God has to give, the punishment will end when the devil sees the light. Us humans will show him and the universe that Love is the way. Comedy will be born out of tragedy.

Just one more thing I think everyone should know. When we go to the other side we are with people (souls) that are just like us, remember that. And it's the same here as it is in Heaven; the people that are the closest to you are a mirror reflection of you. So we are Gods mirror reflection, let's make him proud.

- THY KINGDOM COME THAT WILL BE DONE ON EARTH AS IT IS IN HEAVEN -

THE START

Everyone has a longing for the knowledge that is around them. Can't make the longing stop, must follow it. This is where my longing took me. This is what I choose, of my own free will, to believe:

I was raised a Roman Catholic, my religion at birth. I was baptized to get rid of my original sin (not that I believe newly born babies have committed any sins. Still I say do it just in case.) Being a Catholic was a good base but as I grew older I wondered where did religion come from...? Beliefs and religion have always been in us since the beginning of time. With fear and dying we needed something to make things better. Some of these experiences were hard and we needed to communicate with our dear departed loved ones on the other side to get us through it. People also communicated to the other side to be thankful. We pray to get out of things and we pray to get us things, always have and always will. Now imagine this starting all around the world but each not knowing about the other. Was it Adam and Eve's children that led the way? Or was it the people from Atlantis? Everything would be so different depending on where you are from but all based on the need to talk to the other side within our comfort zone. For whatever reason we all have some kind of belief system and we communicate with it. This happens throughout the whole world, at all times.

I have researched other beliefs, holy books, and prophets, and there are things I liked and things I didn't like about them, same as my Roman Catholic beliefs. People of all beliefs have killed or been killed for what they believe. In the end, I decided to take what I like from each belief and what I liked from all the holy books and prophets. I left behind what I didn't like from these beliefs and what I didn't like about the holy books or prophets. I will make it personal. I will make it my own.

Below I have made a chart of the mainstream religions/beliefs that I do believe in, and on the chart I also show the things in the mainstream religions/beliefs that I don't believe in. You can make your own chart. Everyone's should be different because we are all different, even if we are in the same religion. Also on this chart are less mainstream religions/beliefs. The chart on the next page is of some holy books, symbols and prophets.

Did you know?

- * Did you know that the Quran and the Bible are very much alike? *
- * The five scrolls (the Dead Sea scrolls) were sent by God through Moses. The five scrolls are The Torah. The Torah is Gods words. Anything that was done after that I'm not sure of. *
- * Adam is considered the first prophet in Islam. *
- * In the early Christian beliefs and pagan Roman beliefs, there are similarities between their philosophies and the teachings of the scriptures. *
- * Kabala believes that Hebrew letters hold all the secrets to life. Use your body to shape a Hebrew letter.
- * Jehovah Witness's think all other religions are from the devil. They believe in the devil, but not hell. They also believe only 144 thousand people are going to Heaven to help Jesus, the rest will sort of sleep. *
- * Evangelists believe only if you are one of them, will you go to Heaven to sit with Jesus. *
- * In the Silo belief they say pain and suffering will, in the end, bring joy. *
- * In Vietnam they believe their ancestors are watching over them. *
- * I heard that in Kabala, they have used the Bible for readings. I tried this before I heard about them doing it. I thought of something and then I opened the Bible to a page and put my finger on a spot on that page. I looked there for my answer, it was very good. I must have been in that belief system before or how would I know about doing that before I heard they did it? *
- * Smudging with sage is a Native Indian way of cleansing and keeping evil spirits away. It is used for people, places and things. *
- * Some people think that we have mistaken aliens for God. *

* There is a belief that says you must kill all the Jews before I, your Messiah, will come back. Would anyone want to meet this Messiah? What if this Messiah turns on you? What if he tells everyone to kill your kind next? Think before you choose to believe anything and research it first. Go with Love. *

* I have heard that one of the first names for GOD is ELOHIM and YHWH (Yahweh) and GOD has a female side named ASHERAH his SHEKINAH. From the fifth book of the Old Testament (The five scrolls.) I like it. *

* Almost everyone believes in prayer and meditation. OM MANI PADME HUM is a saying that means: May peace and Love from all the higher beings who care for humanity be with you always. HILARION said that at the end of each of his books. Nice. *

Choose Love, for without Love, life has no meaning.

Remember – Information is power and with power comes responsibility.

If you read this book you will learn to talk to your guides. I promise by doing that you will get to know yourself better and that will give you “happily ever after”. On my search for all the religions I could find, I'm sure there are many I missed. I'm excited to add and subtract to my belief system, change is good for the soul.

For me, I like the things that let me communicate with the other side while getting to know myself better. Everyone is so different, that's the fun of this belief system. You're the only one that has it. It's unique just like you. Even if you are in the same religion as someone else, still your belief system is not exactly the same. And that's the way it should be, don't you think? Or am I the only one that thinks this way?

Because of my life experiences, I believe in many different things. Some religions would say something is evil while other religions would say it is very holy. Everyone is allowed to believe in what they want, when they want to, because of God's gift of free will. One for all, all for one. BELIEVE WHAT YOU WANT!

- AND LEAD US NOT INTO TEMPTATION BUT DELIVER US FROM EVIL -

The two beliefs I have studied the most are: ROMAN CATHOLIC and PSYCHIC LESSONS. I have also explored a little into as many other beliefs as I could find. I'm sure that I will keep on finding new beliefs that I can look into for the rest of my life, sounds like fun. I have done this with other aspects in my life too. You can apply this system of choices to any part of your life; your beliefs, your style, your fitness, your music. Make it personal, make it unique, make it your own. ENJOY
