in: People, Magisters, Original Sin 2 Characters Edit Comments Share People Magisters Original Sin 2 characters community content is available on CC-BY-SA unless stated otherwise. Kniles Flenser on NPC Divinity: Original Sin 2. Kniles Flenser's information about Kniles Flenser is a mad, delusional, psychotic and sadistic magister located in the bowels of Fort Joy Castle within the prison complex. Here he tortures, guts and distorts Sourcerers. Using his dead bodies and body parts to create a flesh golee. To him, he sees his training as an art form. When the player first saw it, he is seen having one side of the conversation with the irritated Silent Monk. In the same room just behind, a young terrified child named Trice can be found in a bloody sewer to shoot in the sewer entrance, which may indicate Kniles is a child killer as well. It may also be assumed that he may even be a sexual sadist to some extent, how he reacts excitedly to see blood, torture and death. But most of it is never explained in the game. What can be said though is that Kniles' desire to impose unnecessary pain, torture, suffering and death on those who are innocent simply for his sadistic pleasure makes him a very disturbed, psychopathic and disgusting individual. He's probably at least partly crazy, and the network that has magisters that would have him in his ranks would explain groups of corrupt leadership, questionable morality and practices. His mother, Prudence, is a Black Bull bartender in Driftwood. He is not fully aware of his sadistic tendencies and thinks he is the best doctor and a decent person. Kniles Flenser's office of Kniles Flenser drops Kniles Flenser pickpocket notes and tips immediately tell you when approaching, he asks you to give him Atusa's severed leg if any of your party members own it. To fight easier to kill meat golem caged the nearest entrance to the Kniles room with a strict character then try nepp one on the left side of the room while remaining on the reef. Meat Golems are not armor and Silent Monks who join the fight are not physical armor, making them easy to deal with when they are frozen. If you have a teleport, you can use it kniles to take him to the other side of the room and keep him out of the fight for a while. If you have a teleport you can use it to pull Meat Golem out of a locked cage and teleport the Kniles cage, it causes kniles to fall out of the fight completely. If you don't want to fight, give it Atusa's chopped leg (if in your possession). He's going to change your face-picker thing when the fane's at your party. Kniles Flencer is inspired by serial killer Buffalo Bill from the movie Silence of the Lambs, who murdered and skinned women then adapted their skins You can find his diary in a locked cell upstairs at the Driftwood Inn.
