

BRIGHAM CITY TO SNOWBASIN RESORT

Start 9:45 am Estimated Finish 1:45 pm

94 miles 6,900 feet of Vertical Climbing

2017 will mark the first year Brigham City hosts a stage start for the Tour. After rolling out of town, riders will warm up their legs on a Category 3 climb up Sardine Canyon. The route circumnavigates the Wellsville Mountains, a part of the Wasatch Mountains that is said to be the steepest mountain range in North America. Returning to the Cache Valley, the course will turn south and follow the "Fruit Highway" in Box Elder County, heading back through the start line in Brigham City for a sprint line in the points classification competition on Historic Main Street.

The race then crosses into Weber County and the road begins to tilt upwards with the familiar North Ogden Divide, a five-kilometer climb averaging a 10 percent gradient that has been a staple of the Tour of Utah for many years. The racers catch their breath as the road flattens out around Pineview Reservoir, but they won't have much time to relax before the first mountaintop finish of this year's Tour at Snowbasin Resort. Perched on top of Old Snowbasin Road, this double-pitched incline covers six miles with an average gradient of six percent.

PARKING

Spectator parking may be limited surrounding the start and finish line footprints. We encourage you to bike and ride share whenever possible. Free bike valet is provided at most stage finish communities.

HARMONS HEALTHY LIVING EXPO

Visit the Harmons Healthy Living Expo for an exciting, family-friendly experience. This interactive festival area and sponsor showcase serves as a gateway to the finish line for each stage. The Harmons Healthy Living Expo delivers an array of interactive exhibits, official Tour of Utah merchandise, and live entertainment, including jumbo television screens to watch the race unfold live.

MOBILE MERCHANDISE TRUCK

Keep an eye out at start lines, finish lines, KOMs, block parties, and plenty of spots in between for the Tour of Utah Mobile Merchandise Truck. It's the best place for fans to get all of their official 2017 Tour of Utah gear, including T-shirts, hats, jerseys and more.

ALSCO HOSPITALITY TENT

The fan favorite AlSCO Hospitality Tents return for this year's Tour. Enjoy beverages and catered food as you get out of the heat, grab a table with some friends and relax. Tent-goers have the luxury of enjoying the Tour both in person and on screen, making the AlSCO Hospitality Tents the perfect spot to sit back and enjoy the race.
