PUBLISHER'S NOTES

If you own a business or work in the world of advertising, we have a special message for you.

Why advertise?

Without a doubt in the new economy, one thing remains the same... as you look around the room, the audience you see at this performance continues to be the most influential decision making segment of our economy. As a result, this is an audience that your company cannot afford to miss. At a time when breaking through the clutter barrier seems impossible, and where channel surfing, fast forwarding, and grocery store give away publications abound, our publications stand alone.

We have a focused, undistracted audience. Ten minutes before the curtain goes up, everyone is reading their magazine. As an advertiser, you have the confidence of knowing that your advertising dollars and message are reaching its target audience.

We have several creative advertising options for your consideration. Simply give us a call at 615-373-5557.

Welcome to the Tennessee Performing Arts Center. I hope your experience here is fun, memorable, and inspiring.

On many different levels, I find inspiration in what unfolds on the TPAC stage, from the pure genius of comedians to the sheer power of an amazing singer's interpretation of a great song.

I'm inspired by Martha Ingram's leadership, vision, and advocacy for the arts, delighted that she received a National Arts Award as TPAC celebrated its 30th anniversary. Without her perseverance, none of us would be attending performances here, where more than 12 million audience members have passed through our doors.

I'm inspired by comments from our patrons about what a performance meant to them on a personal level or how they valued the time they shared with friends and family.

Most of all, I'm inspired by the stories about the difference TPAC Education makes in the lives of Tennessee children, teachers, and families. As many of you know, specially trained teaching artists work with classroom teachers through TPAC Education's ArtSmart. After one residency, anchored in a TPAC Education performance for young people, the teaching artist shared this anecdote with us:

The class was filing out and I approached the teacher. She had tears in her eyes and pointed to a young boy. She told me he had never responded in any way in her class (this was the end of November). She was thrilled and surprised that he engaged in our arts activity. I choked up, too, of course. I said, "That is why I do this. For these children and those moments." It gets no better.

Yes, this is a dramatic illustration, but we've heard hundreds of stories like these over the years. For most children, regardless of age or ability, the arts help them to connect to their school work and to the world around them. The arts build confidence and encourage self-expression. The everyday work of art makes an extraordinary difference in the lives of children. That's what inspires most of us at the Tennessee Performing Arts Center. We thank you for your patronage and the part you play in the success of our artistic and educational mission.

KATHLEEN W. O'BRIEN
TPAC PRESIDENT AND CHIEF EXECUTIVE OFFICER

In The Wake Of The Flood

TPAC thanks its audience for their support of the Grand Ole Opry, the Nashville Symphony, and all of the organizations and people impacted by the May 2010 flooding in Nashville.

Immediately following the flood, TPAC accommodated the Opry, the Symphony, and other organizations in need of performance space, and patrons attending the Broadway tour of A Chorus Line donated $47,892 to relief efforts coordinated by the Community Foundation. On six nights, when Ryman Auditorium was not available, the Opry's show went on at War Memorial Auditorium – which served as its home from 1939 to 1943, and is now managed by TPAC. Between May and December, TPAC will have coordinated 20 Symphony events in Jackson Hall or War Memorial, where the symphony performed its first concert in 1946 and continued to appear until TPAC opened. TPAC also donated resources to the Ben Folds benefit concert for the Symphony on November 27, with gratitude for local audience support.

TPAC extends heartfelt wishes for continued recovery and future success to all members of our community who were affected by the flooding.

Martha Ingram Receives National Arts Award

Martha Rivers Ingram, actress Angela Lansbury, musician Herb Alpert and designers Laura and Kate Mulleavy, received National Arts Awards from Americans for the Arts on October 18, 2010, surrounded by distinguished artists and advocates from across the nation at a ceremony in New York city.

"Martha Ingram is one of the best people I know. Martha has changed our world with her grace and her dignity, her sense of humor, and her ability to move things forward by consensus-building," said Aubrey Harwell, in a video presentation for the award presentation. Both are longtime members of the TPAC Board of Directors.

As she received the Eli and Edythe Broad Award for Philanthropy in the Arts, Mrs. Ingram was recognized for her leadership in the founding of the Tennessee Performing Arts Center, which is celebrating its 30th anniversary, and the development of the Schermerhorn Symphony Center, among many other accomplishments.

Mrs. Ingram's history of service to local arts organizations also includes the boards of Nashville Ballet, Nashville Opera Association, Tennessee Repertory Theatre, and the Nashville Symphony. She currently chairs the board of the internationally renowned Spoleto Festival USA in her home town, Charleston, South Carolina.

"Obviously, country music is big in Nashville, but so is the symphony, so is gospel music, so is ballet, so is the theater, the opera and the musicals at Tennessee Performing Arts Center. It's all part of the package that makes our city 'music city' and Martha has played a key role in making all of that happen... I think that she thinks a city can't be a great city unless it embraces the arts. She has taken on a role of being an advocate for the arts and for being an advocate for funding for the arts," said Nashville Mayor Karl Dean.

"Martha Ingram is a huge reason why Nashville is still considered the Athens of the South in 2010," said Maria Bell, the National Arts Award Chair. "Her involvement in the leadership of every significant cultural institution in Nashville makes her a most worthy recipient of our philanthropy award."

With offices in Washington, DC, and New York City, Americans for the Arts is the leading organization for advancing the arts in the nation. Celebrating its 50th anniversary, it is dedicated to representing and serving local communities and creating opportunities for every American to participate in and appreciate all forms of the arts. Tennesseans for the Arts is a state affiliate, as is BCA (Business Committee for the Arts) in Nashville.

Broadway Meets the Local Classroom

The Broadway tour of In the Heights at TPAC

March 22-27 will give local students a unique arts education opportunity. Thanks to a national educational grant from the Broadway League, the national industry trade association, TPAC Education staff and a teaching artist will work with students at Glenclyff High School to explore themes in the show which are relevant to their lives and their community.

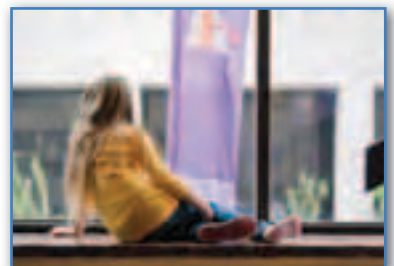

Winner of multiple 2008 Tony Awards, including Best Musical, In the Heights gives voice to three generations of a family. The uplifting musical is set in Washington Heights, a vibrant Hispanic neighborhood in upper west Manhattan with a rich history of immigration throughout the history of New York. Crossing cultures and generations, the show celebrates the American life with a fresh point of view and many genres of upbeat music.

With a grant from the League two years ago, TPAC Education worked with Fort Campbell High School students, who created "soundtracks of their lives" inspired by Jersey Boys: The Story of Frankie Valli and The Four Seasons.

Watch for news about the Glenclyff project and make plans to celebrate your American life with family and friends at In The Heights.

With your help, TPAC Education has served more than 1.5 million children from pre-school through high school over three decades. For more information and to make a donation, visit www.tpac.org/support or call 615-782-4000.

AT&T Covers the Tennessee Performing Arts Center

The current AT&T Real Yellow Pages features the Tennessee Performing Arts Center on the cover of the volume serving the greater Nashville area with more than 590,000 directories this year.

"We are proud to feature the Tennessee Performing Arts Center on the cover of our new AT&T Real Yellow Pages directories for the Nashville area," said Kenny Blackburn, vice president, AT&T external affairs. "We continually work to make our directory covers special on the outside, and tailor the community information inside our directories to best meet the needs of local residents and businesses."

Combined, AT&T's print and online products receive more than 5 billion consumer searches a year for local business information, and provide nearly 1 million advertisers with valuable sales leads to help their businesses grow. The company offers a full suite of advertising search products that enable businesses and customers to connect anytime, anywhere. In addition to print directories, AT&T provides information through YP.COM, RealPagesLive.com, YPmobile, Digital Express, ATT411, and more.

"I'm honored to look at the cover of the 2010 Yellow Pages and see the Tennessee Performing Arts Center," said Kathleen O'Brien, TPAC's president and chief executive officer. "As we celebrate our 30th anniversary season, here we are, marking another historic milestone with one of the greatest icons of recognition any organization could receive. We're grateful for AT&T's ongoing commitment to partner with community organizations like ours to increase our visibility to local residents and visitors to the city and state, which ultimately supports our educational mission."

IN THE *** HEIGHTS

THE TONY®-WINNING BEST MUSICAL

SYNOPSIS

“Experience an exhilarating journey into one of Manhattan’s most vibrant communities, where the coffee from the corner bodega is light and sweet, the windows are always open, and the breeze carries the rhythm of three generations of music. Welcome to In The Heights, a new musical that feels like home. With an amazing cast, incredible dancing and a gripping tale of hope and self-discovery, In The Heights is Broadway’s hottest hit!” – Broadwayworld.com

Set in Washington Heights, a closely-knit Hispanic community in New York City, In The Heights is a story of family, friendship, chasing your dreams, and finding your way in the world.

The sun rises on “The Heights” over the local Bodega as Usnavi, owner of the small shop, prepares to open. Local residents enter and exit, telling their stories and sharing their hopes and dreams.

Young Nina Rosario has just returned from her freshman year at Stanford, while her parents are struggling to keep their taxi company afloat. Across the street at the local beauty salon, Usnavi’s love interest, Vanessa, dreams of moving to her own place in the West Village. Today is the last day before Daniela, salon owner, will be relocating her shop to the Bronx to save money. Needing an escape, Vanessa stops by Usnavi’s shop where he finally works up the courage to ask her on a date and she accepts. Meanwhile, Abuela Claudia, Usnavi’s “adopted grandmother,” has purchased a winning lottery ticket for $96,000. The entire community dreams of how they would spend the small fortune.

As the sun sets, Nina talks with Benny, who works for her father. They share stories of their insecurities as they walk through the neighborhood where they grew up and romance blossoms. The following morning, the Rosario family discovers that Benny and Nina have been together for the entire night. Her father is furious about the idea of a non-Latino being involved with his daughter.

For various reasons, it appears that Usnavi’s shop, the salon, and the cab company will all close. Is this the end of the era in the neighborhood? What happens when friends and family get together for what they think is a final celebration?

“When this musical erupts in one of its expressions of collective joy, the energy it gives off could light up the George Washington Bridge for a year or two,” said the New York Times. # THE COLOR PURPLE Sings June 21-26, 2011

Buy your tickets now for the spirited musical that sold-out in Nashville and many other cities last year.

Sweeping, soulful, and surprisingly funny, The Color Purple spans three continents and 40 years in the life of a remarkable African-American woman. A joyous blend of gospel, jazz, pop and blues captures the inspiration of Alice Walker's Pulitzer Prize-winning novel and adds yet another dimension to the story made legendary in film.

Visit tpac.org/colorpurple for links to the musical's web site for photographs, music, clips from the show and full reviews from this sampler:

"Despite it's signature title, Color Purple reveals a deep shade of beauty... a musical gift just waiting to be experienced,"

New York Times

"Flying Colors... does Alice Walker's classic superb justice,"

Philadelphia City Paper

"Open your heart to the big, bountiful musical... and you will be well rewarded,"

Toronto Star

Recycling is classy.

Please help TPAC reuse and recycle.
Here's how you can pitch in:

PLASTIC BOTTLES

PLAYBILLS

TPAC invites you to take home one playbill for the family and recycle the other.

TPAC playbills are online at www.tpac.org/onstage.

Recycling containers for plastics and paper also are located along beautiful
Deaderick Street, the first certified green street in Tennessee.

LIVE GREEN: Playing our Part

TPAC is about arts and culture – an environmentally responsible culture that is active in the concerted effort of millions of Americans to “live green.”

The Tennessee Performing Arts Center is an accessible facility with a variety of services.
For more information, see page 60 of this playbill or visit www.tpac.org.

Groups get great deals on Broadway, concerts, and more!

TPAC has three great programs for employees and groups!

*IN THE **** HEIGHTS*

THE TONY-WINNING BEST MUSICAL

In The Heights tells the universal story of a vibrant community in Manhattan's Washington Heights - a place where the coffee from the corner bodega is light and sweet, the windows are always open, and the breeze carries the rhythm of three generations of music. It's a community on the brink of change, full of hopes, dreams and pressures, where the biggest struggle can be deciding which traditions you take with you, and which ones you leave behind.

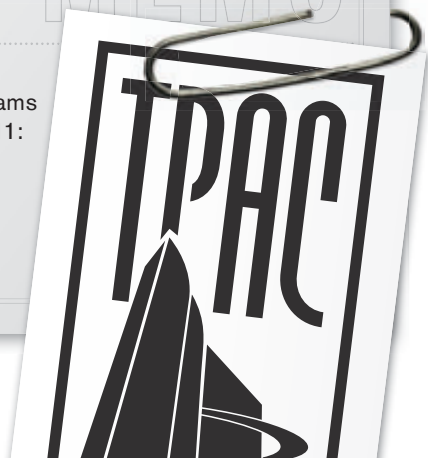

Groups of 12 or more get great deals!

Building lives, one home, one family, one community at a time.

Nashville Area Habitat for Humanity is an ecumenical Christian ministry that provides people with the life-changing opportunity to purchase and own quality affordable homes. We are an equal opportunity/drug-free employer. For information on Fair Housing and Equal Opportunity go to www.hud.gov/offices/haeo or call the local HUD office.

This advertising space has been made available through a generous gift from the Glover Group in honor of Jack and Daniella Fleischer and Hermitage Lighting Gallery for their continued support and commitment to Nashville Area Habitat and the Habitat HomeStores.

You might say the newest endowed chair at Lipscomb University is...a bench. The newly established Patricia and Rodes Hart Chair in Piano will seat distinguished music faculty for generations to come, beginning with its first distinguished faculty member, Dr. Jerome Reed, professor in the Lipscomb University Department of Music and internationally respected pianist and teacher. We invite you to take a seat at his performances—or at any of hundreds of arts performances on the Lipscomb campus each year, most with no admission charge. Go to events.lipscomb.edu for a schedule. Music, theatre and visual arts...the next most important chair is the one you fill.

A Leader Among Leaders

In 1981, Thomas F. Frist, Jr., and a charter group of Nashville leaders started the Alexis de Tocqueville Society as a way for leaders to publicly demonstrate their commitment to making Nashville a better community. Since that time, the Society has been adopted by major cities across the country and around the world. It has claimed as members such names as Gates, Dell, Lilly, Trump, and Hunt. We would like to recognize the members of the Alexis de Tocqueville Society, Alpha Chapter. Thank you for your leadership.

WHERE TO GO ... WHAT TO DO

An initiative of The Community Foundation of Middle Tennessee

Think globally. Print locally.

A WORLD OF PRINT SOLUTIONS

As one of middle Tennessee's oldest printers, our roots run deep. Not just in the local community, but across the globe. After all, we're part of a nationwide network of commercial printers. But more than that, we're also participants in the worldwide movement to sustain the planet. In fact, we recently became the first full-service commercial printer in Nashville to be certified by the Forest Stewardship Council.

Now one of the areas most trusted companies is one of the most ecologically responsible, too.

At The Webb School we believe in the promise of every individual.

PROMISE

We are committed to developing that promise.

Guided by our core values of honor, integrity and civility, The Webb School empowers young men and women to fulfill their promise. Our community of 310 students (grades 6-12) is small by design, creating lifelong connections while fostering greater involvement and individual growth.

TPAC Facility Information

Accessibility Services at TPAC include parking; elevators; wheelchair seating; use of a TPAC wheelchair; designated restrooms; and services for hearing and visually impaired patrons. Infrared assisted listening devices are available at no charge at the entrance to each theater. TPAC offers signing for hearing impaired patrons, and audio description and Braille programs for blind and visually impaired patrons on the Sunday matinee in the HCA/TriStar Broadway at TPAC Series. The third Saturday matinees of Tennessee Repertory Theatre plays also are signed. Large print programs are available for shows in the Broadway, TPAC Presents and Family Field Trip series. Special accessibility requests and concerns, excluding assisted listening headsets, should be discussed in advance with the TPAC House Manager at 615-782-4087. Reservations for a TPAC wheelchair should be made on the day of performance.

Restrooms for Andrew Jackson Hall are located one level down from the 6th Avenue entrance, in the halls behind the seats in the tier and balcony, and downstairs in the back of the orchestra level. Restrooms for Polk Theater are located down the stairs to the left of the entrance to the orchestra level and on the balcony level.

All electronic devices including cellular phones, pagers, watch alarms, cameras, and recorders should be turned off prior to the performance or checked-in with the floor manager or an usher, who will note the seating location of physicians and others who expect emergency calls.

Call Lost and Found at 615-782-4098 to report an item you might have left at TPAC.

Natural Herb Cough Drops, courtesy of RICOLA USA, Inc., are available in the back of Jackson Hall and in the Polk Theater lobby.

In case of an emergency, the number to leave with others is 615-782-4000 (along with performance, theater, and seat location).

Smoking is permitted outside of the building.
