Welcome to the TENNESSEE PERFORMING ARTS CENTER

by Kathleen W. O'BrienTPAC President and Chief Executive Officer

Welcome to the Tennessee Performing Arts Center, home to Disney Musicals in Schools and four other dynamic education programs for children, from pre-school through high school, and adults.

I'll get right to the point: Research studies have shown that students who participate in arts educational programs typically out-perform those who don't.

One study cited by the American Alliance for Theatre and Education states that students involved in theatre production outscored non-arts students on the SAT by an average of 65 points in the verbal component and 34 in math. Their data unequivocally connected performance in plays to improved academic achievement, attendance, and graduation rates among other measurable gains.

This is why TPAC dedicates so many of its resources towards arts education.

The pictures from our Disney program illustrate what happens along the way to results like these. Producing a Disney KIDS Musical is a fun, exciting process with a multitude of benefits essential to academic success. The program promotes teamwork among children, educators, and parents. The process ignites imagination, motivation, and critical thinking. Reading and language skills are advanced by the challenge of memorizing lines and lyrics advance. Performing in front of others increases confidence and improves communication.

Through Disney Musicals in Schools and TPAC Education's other programs, the arts are powerful tools for teaching. Children are actively engaged in learning and practice skills which are fundamental to academic success.

Your very presence at TPAC today indicates that you appreciate the arts. You know the power of the live performance. You understand how TPAC Education makes a difference in the lives of Tennessee children. Please help us spread the word – advocate for us – about the power and outcomes of arts in education.

Thank you.

Since Nashville and TPAC Education were selected as the first pilot of Disney Musicals in Schools, the impact of the program has tripled.

This academic year, six new schools are producing a Disney KIDS Musical, while another 10 are returning in their second or third year. Combined, the schools represent a cross-section of Metro Nashville Elementary and Middle Schools.

At no cost to them, the schools receive a performance license for the Disney KIDS or Junior Musical of their choice, comprehensive resource materials, and in-school support from TPAC Teaching Artists.

"The phrase 'Disney magic' now is embedded in our vocabulary and the work we've been doing in classrooms for more than 30 years," said Roberta Ciuffo, TPAC's Executive Vice President for Education and Outreach. "Disney Theatrical Group has given TPAC and Nashville an extraordinary opportunity. We're grateful to Disney and extremely proud of the incredible work in Metro Schools that allows this program to continue."

For more information, including scenes from the 2013 productions of Disney Musicals in Schools, visit TPAC.ORG/Education

Before Disney Musicals in Schools came to Nashville, audiences experienced the magic of Disney's Broadway shows. Those two sides of TPAC intersected this year when a special award was presented – the first of its kind, given only to three arts centers.

ARTS PARTNER:

RAYMOND JAMES GIVES BACK TO THE COMMUNITY WITH TPAC EDUCATION

The Experience of Local Leaders. The Strength of a World-Class Firm.

Since opening in 2006, the Nashville office of Raymond James & Associates has grown quickly – developing a reputation for excellent service and sound guidance. Today, the team includes more than 20 of the region's finest financial professionals, all supported by the strength of an industry leader committed to community partnerships.

"Giving back to the communities in which we live and work is an important part of the mission of Raymond James," said Nashville branch manager Bill Lynch, who serves on the TPAC Board of Directors. "It's part of the reason we chose to partner with TPAC on various educational programs that provide invaluable opportunities for individuals, especially children, to be exposed to the arts that enrich their lives and are vital to a child's education."

In 1962, Raymond James pioneered financial planning for the individual, emphasizing the importance of independence, intelligence, integrity and always putting clients' needs first. Now one of the largest independent financial services firms in the United States, Raymond James remains dedicated to its founding principles.

Dale Allen and Nissan, represented by Andrew Tavi, received the Applause Award, TPAC's highest honor, at the annual gala on Saturday, August 24, 2013. Chaired by Theresa Menefee, Bob Deal, and Jason Bradshaw, the festive event was themed to the Broadway hit, Million Dollar Quartet, inspired by the spontaneous recording session in 1956 when Johnny Cash, Jerry Lee Lewis, Carl Perkins, and Elvis Presley chanced to meet at Sun Records in Memphis and jammed. After dinner on the stage of Andrew Jackson Hall, some 400 guests were entertained by Wanda Jackson, the "Queen of Rock and Roll," who sang with each member of the "quartet" over the course of her career.

Raymond James was the title sponsor. The entertainment sponsor was IronHorse Farms. Other leading sponsors were Adams & Reese, American Airlines, Blue Cross Blue Shield of Tennessee, Delek U.S. Holdings, and Delta Dental. Co-Sponsors were Classic Party Rentals, Dollar General, HCA/TriStar Health, Nissan, and Vanderbilt University.

TENNESSEE STATE MUSEUM

Partners with TPAC on Exhibit

War Horse, coming to TPAC this June, tells the story of a deep bond between an English farm boy and his remarkable horse, separated by journeys to the battlefields of World War I.

The central character in this epic staging is the horse Joey, a life-size puppet, surrounded by a talented company of puppeteers, actors, and musicians. Like other breathtaking puppets to appear in the theatre, Joey (though different from any other) is an artistic and mechanical wonder.

Winner of theatre's highest awards in London and New York, War Horse also provides the perfect opportunity for an educational partnership with the Tennessee State Museum – a colorful exhibit on "the G Level," directly beneath Jackson Lobby, accessible by the elevator or stairs.

The Museum's sections emphasize Tennessee's role in World War I along with general information about life on the front and at home during the era, including a panel on the military history of horses.

TPAC illustrates the construction and operation of Joey, who becomes a living, breathing and galloping character on stage, strong enough to carry a man.

On display through June 2014, the exhibit includes photographs, artifacts, and video.

TPAC's partnership with the Tennessee State Museum also highlights the connections of the two organizations at historic "War Memorial" across the street and the plaza with monuments to Tennesseans who served their country.

On the plaza level, the Museum's Military Branch commemorates overseas conflicts, beginning with the Spanish-American War in 1898 and ending with World War II in 1945. Included is a deck gun from the U.S.S. Nashville, which fired the first shot of the Spanish-American War.

Upstairs, TPAC manages War Memorial Auditorium, where hundreds of celebrity artists have performed. When it was dedicated in 1925, to honor the Tennesseans who served in World War I, it was given the Gold Medal Award, the highest honor bestowed by the American Institute of Architecture. Leading architects and artists of the time contributed to its style, near-perfect acoustics, and atmosphere.

Referencing both the success of engagement of Disney's The Lion King in June and the TPAC Education program, Jack Eldon, Vice President, Domestic of Disney Theatrical Productions wrote:

"... To express our heartfelt thanks for years of unwavering partnership and collaboration, we proudly present the Tennessee Performing Arts Center with this handcrafted lioness mask – a replica of the mask originally created by renowned designer, Michael Curry and the Tony awardwinning director of The Lion King, Julie Taymor.

"We hope this tribute will serve as a reminder of your outstanding work, and our deepest appreciation. We wish you continued success for many years to come and look forward to our next engagement in the great city of Nashville."

The mask is permanently mounted in Andrew Jackson Hall, to the left of the orchestra level entrance.

AMAZING. INCREDIBLE. SPECTACULAR. A SERIOUSLY SUPERNATURAL EXPERIENCE.

That's what you'll say about Ghost, the musical with more high-tech special effects and illusions ever to haunt the TPAC stage.

February 25 - March 2, 2014

Most of you are familiar with the spirited tale in the highest-grossing film of 1990, which starred Patrick Swayze, Demi Moore, and Whoopi Goldberg. The stage version closely follows the love story about Molly and Sam, who is killed in an apparent mugging. Instead of following the light and going to heaven, Sam becomes a ghost and stays behind with Molly. Speaking through Oda Mae, an eccentric psychic, he is eventually able to contact Molly, trying to save her from his friend Carl, who was actually behind Sam's death.

The pop score includes the memorable "Unchained Melody" from the film, along with new songs by rock legends and Grammy Award winners Dave Stewart (The Eurythmics) and Glen Ballard (songwriter/producer for Michael Jackson's Thriller).

"In the movies, you can make anything happen. In the theatre, it takes real ingenuity to summon up ghosts and physical disturbances from beyond the grave. [Ghost] succeeds spectacularly with the help of illusions," said The Daily Telegraph. "Looks set to keep audiences laughing, gasping and holding back tears for a long time to come... Terrific illusions, thrilling hi-tech designs and real heart, humor and suspense."

"Ghost the Musical is a gleaming piece of stagecraft whose smoke, mirrors, full-throttle heartache and beguiling special effects put it light years ahead of many of its competitors," wrote London's Time Out.

Ghost is part of the exciting 2013-14 HCA/TriStar Health Broadway at TPAC season. Learn more about the other titles and the benefits you receive when you buy ticket packages.

Think globally. Print locally.

As one of middle Tennessee's oldest printers, our roots run deep. Not just in the local community, but across the globe. After all, we're part of a nationwide network of commercial printers. But more than that, we're also participants in the worldwide movement to sustain the planet. In fact, we recently became the first full-service commercial printer in Nashville to be certified by the Forest Stewardship Council.

Now one of the area's most trusted companies is one of the most ecologically responsible, too.
