PUBLISHERS' NOTES

As you read through the pages of tonight's publication, please take special note of the advertisers that have invested in an opportunity to speak directly to you about their products and services. As we move into 2009, reaching people like you in an environment like tonight's performance is incredibly important to our advertisers. Why?...because the people who frequent the arts tend to be the most sought after advertising demographic that businesses want to reach.

The performing arts venue setting provides a unique advertising experience, what we like to call "the last captured audience in print"... 10 minutes before the curtain goes up, there are no distractions, you can't channel surf, fast forward, or TIVO...everyone is reading their magazine...just look around the room.

It's more important than ever to make sure that advertising dollars are being spent wisely. So, for tonight's advertisers we say "Thank You!"

If your company is not currently advertising, and you would like to learn more about how to reach our audience, please call us at 373-5557.

Thank you for coming tonight and enjoy the show,

Welcome to the Tennessee Performing Arts Center. I hope your time here is magic and memorable – for you and for the family or friends who are sharing the experience with you.

As you've already noticed, this year of HCA/TriStar Broadway at TPAC is a blend of entertainment legends and innovative, new works. The three winners of the Tony Award® for Best Musical on our season illustrate the ongoing variety and diversity of Broadway, in New York and Nashville. In October, quirky Avenue Q, winner of the top Tony® honors in 2004, took us to places we've never been before in American musical theatre. In February, we revisit scenes in American life and work, Bob Fosse-style choreography, and songs we've heard all our lives; The classic Pajama Game received the 2006 Tony® for Best Revival, in addition to Best Musical in 1954. Then, in April, we'll enjoy Jersey Boys, featuring more familiar songs, with a compelling story, that is new to most of us, and fresh, energetic staging that signals new directions in Broadway theatre.

We're also following the yellow brick road with beloved characters from our youth... flying to new comedy heights from Tuna, Texas to Las Vegas... and saying goodbye to the legendary Riverdance, another modern success story on its farewell tour, celebrating the rich cultural traditions of Ireland and connecting them to American, Spanish, and Russian forms of tap dance.

This is Broadway – the biggest, the best, the latest, and the greatest touring to Nashville and taking us from our own backyards to faraway lands. From the familiar to the cutting-edge, from the classic to the contemporary, we continue to share the excitement, adventure and memories. ❀

Arts Education in Action

A nationally respected model, TPAC Education serves adults and children of all ages, from pre-school to high school. One program, sponsored by Bank of America, will serve approximately 1,000 pre-school children in 54 Head Start classrooms in Metro Nashville this year.

TPAC's Wolf Trap Early Learning Through the Arts partners professional artists with pre-school teachers to advance early childhood learning and development with music, theatre, storytelling, dance, and puppetry. Children take part in fun arts activities that strengthen problem-solving, expression, confidence, enthusiasm for learning, and more. Teachers discover new educational tools to engage students and enhance instruction.

"What we do through the arts, in my case percussion, is to teach fundamental literacy skills and life skills," said percussionist Dann Sherrill, one of six Wolf Trap artists who is specially trained to work in Head Start classrooms this school year.

"The children are always very enthusiastic and excited to see us when we come in. We develop quite a bond with the children and teachers over the six weeks that we work with them. The activities I lead tend to include percussion instruments, and range from basic playful rhythm explorations to interactive storytelling about the adventures of my big conga drum. The structure and content are geared to helping children expand their senses, relate to other people, and develop emerging literacy skills—what you need to learn a language," said Sherrill, noting that language has its own rhythm, which makes percussion the ideal instrument to help children master English before they learn to read. His activities accent the emphasis, tone and cadence of the language which are vital to preparing children to read.

Sherrill is a percussionist and drum set player from Nashville who plays Afro-Cuban and Brazilian Percussion, playing regularly with salsa dance orchestras. As a session drummer/percussionist, he has recorded numerous CDs with a range of artists including Steve Winwood, Michael English, Engelbert Humperdinck, Mel Tillis, Bonnie Bramlett, Armando Perazza, Arturo Sandoval, Hayseed Dixie, Mark Selby, Jamie O'Hara, and Alvin Slaughter. He teaches ensemble classes at the Nashville Jazz Workshop, has is a regional affiliate of the national program, founded at the internationally renowned Wolf Trap Foundation for the Performing Arts in Vienna, Virginia. "Our Wolf Trap Artist has brought to our center a richness that these children have never experienced," said Head Start teacher Vicky Collins about another one of the TPAC teaching artists. "She brings the world of ethnicity in song and dance and has helped the children to have an appreciation for the earth, community and each other."

a thriving private teaching practice, and conducts workshops, classes, clinics and performances at schools, universities, and community organizations.

"It's energizing to be around people that age. If you have your game on, the children participate gladly and put their hearts and souls into it," said Sherrill, who sees the impact of his time in each classroom. "I can think of children who were complete wallflowers before the lessons. At the conclusion of the residency, they came out of their shells, participating more in class activities and expressing themselves better.... It works. I just hope that it continues. No question, the program is worthwhile and valid. Working with children through the arts is another arrow in the quiver that is necessary to help children grow and learn in challenging environments."

Think globally. Print locally.

A WORLD OF PRINT SOLUTIONS

As one of middle Tennessee's oldest printers, our roots run deep. Not just in the local community, but across the globe. After all, we're part of a nationwide network of commercial printers. But more than that, we're also participants in the worldwide movement to sustain the planet. In fact, we recently became the first full-service commercial printer in Nashville to be certified by the Forest Stewardship Council.

Now one of the areas most trusted companies is one of the most ecologically responsible, too.
