WE PROVIDE LOVING CARE TO PEOPLE WITH LIFE-THREATENING ILLNESSES, SUPPORT TO THEIR FAMILIES, AND SERVICE TO THE COMMUNITY IN A SPIRIT OF ENRICHING LIVES.

PUBLISHERS' NOTES

The excitement of the annual kick off to the new arts season is mirrored by the simultaneous launch of our annual newsstand magazine, "Nashville Arts & Entertainment".

Through these pages, we not only celebrate the best that Music City has to offer in Arts & Entertainment, but we also remind Nashvillians why we are so attractively diverse, so uniquely Nashville. That diversity is apparent both in industry and economics, but it takes the amenities that arts & entertainment offer, to create a well rounded lifestyle for our community.

Nashville's uniqueness has garnered some very prestigious recognition: Music City ranks as the best large city for relocating families, and is also ranked No. 3 in terms of cultural amenities behind New York and San Francisco.

A Nashville statistic that we have not seen in print, but instinctively believe to be true is the generosity of businesses and individuals within our community. One example of many thousands is Andrews Cadillac. On November 13th, Andrews will host a wine tasting and auction to benefit the many charitable efforts of Rotary. For more information go to www.AndrewsCadillac.com or www.BrentwoodRotary.org.

We are proud and appreciative of our advertisers who make our publications possible. We hope that you as readers, will take the time to let them know of your support as well.

Enjoy the new season!

Welcome to the Tennessee Performing Arts Center. I hope that you enjoy your time here with family and friends.

In fact, I hope your entire TPAC experience meets – even exceeds – your expectations.

How did you learn about the show and purchase your ticket? We know that your experience with TPAC begins before you attend the performance. Many take advantage of the information and links on the TPAC web site. Others take time to educate themselves about the performance, conducting their own research on the internet.

When you arrived, perhaps you sampled a “Taste of Tennessee” at TPAC Concessions.

You may have taken part in one of our popular, free pre-show offerings – the Arts Appetizer

Welcome

KATHLEEN W. O'BRIEN

TPAC PRESIDENT AND

discussion on Wednesday evenings before Broadway shows, the lobby activities prior to our “Family Field Trip” or an “InsideOut of the Lunch Box” in the fifth year of the enrichment series for adults presented by Vanderbilt University and TPAC Education.

In a few days, if you receive an electronic survey, please respond, knowing that TPAC staff thoughtfully review every comment. At any time, for any reason, I encourage you to contact our Patron Services team by calling 615-782-4077 or e-mailing patronservices@tpac.org.

From the opening scene to the curtain call, I hope this performance is special for you. From the moment you plan to join us, through the lasting memories you’ve made, I hope you enjoy your entire TPAC experience. 🌸

NISSAN PROUD SUSTAINING PARTNER OF TPAC

Talking to you: TPAC BLENDS TRADITIONS & NEW TRENDS

The past, present, and future often intersect on stage.

For thousands of years, the performing arts have been a blend of time-honored traditions and contemporary expressions.

So, too, the tried, true and new are reflected in the way that TPAC interacts with patrons before and after that moment in time when the artists on the stage are interrelating with the audience.

In just over a decade, the number of TPAC tickets sold on the internet has gone from nil to nearly 99,000 a season – a figure that increases more rapidly each year.

Today, TPAC staff uses e-mail to communicate with more than 80% of Broadway season ticket-holders and 100% of the membership of Marquee, a TPAC club designed to enhance the experience of the live performance. Both have their own pages on the TPAC web site for information exclusive to them.

Phrases that didn't exist in the recent past, from "RSS" to "Virtual Tour," make the agenda at staff meetings.

BRENT HYAMS

TPAC EXECUTIVE VICE PRESIDENT AND GENERAL MANAGER

"Ultimately, TPAC is keeping pace with new technologies to serve our patrons in new ways. We're giving you more choices – how you learn about our shows, how you purchase tickets, and how you give us feedback and input," said Brent Hyams, TPAC's Executive Vice President and General Manager. "We'll continue to use traditional communications, but you'll see ongoing rapid growth in 'business intelligence' at TPAC – all of the satellite and electronic technologies that are expanding even as we speak. In your own time, in your own unique way, you'll increasingly customize your interaction with TPAC to connect with elements of the live performance. We're making a concerted effort to be on the forefront of giving our patrons high-tech tools to inform and enhance their experiences in the arts and arts education."

TPAC's first comprehensive "virtual Broadway brochure" is especially fun, fast, and easy to use – entertaining unto itself with music from every show, helpful links, and comments from staff. Check it out at www.tpac.org/brochure and explore other content on the web site during your stop. View clips, listen to pod-casts and song samples, enter contests, and stay tuned... Blogs and a version of "My TPAC" are coming soon.

WWW.TPAC.ORG/BROCHURE

WWW.TPAC.ORG

The TPAC web site contains basic information and easy links for one-stop shopping, learning, and networking.

The home page contains easy links to the performance calendar, shows in the immediate future, ticket purchases, education programs, on-line donations, networking opportunities, and tips on visiting TPAC. Click on the "rate me" button to make comments on the web site itself. What would you like to see? How do you want to interact with us?

Go to www.tpac.org/contest to keep up with TPAC contests, including "Text to Win."

TALK BACK TO TPAC!

Sign up for StageLinks, the regular e-mail to more than 90,000, and you'll automatically receive an electronic survey after every TPAC performance you attend. Patrons who provide their e-mail addresses when they purchase season tickets, or tickets for individual shows, also receive the surveys. TPAC receives an average response rate of 30%.

When you sign up for StageLinks, RSS, or text messages, you're also the first to receive breaking news and special ticket offers from TPAC. Click the purple mailbox button on the home page of www.tpac.org or see www.tpac.org/mail. 📧

Heart disease affects women, too.

Saint Thomas Heart and the American Heart Association asks you to join us as we Go Red for Women and help bring heart disease to the forefront of women's health. Every year more than 1,000 Nashville women die from cardiovascular disease, despite the fact that less than 20% view heart disease as a serious problem. WHO'S WHO

STEVE LANDES (Vocals, rhythm guitar, piano, harmonica)

With a singing voice dead-on to the young John Lennon's, the precocious Steve taught himself guitar at age 10 listening to Beatles records and by 13 was fronting a Top 40 cover band in his native Philadelphia area. At 17 he joined the successful Broadway musical Beatlemania and further developed his musicianship. Steve later honed his acting skills in an off-Broadway showcase of The Fab Four. Once he joined RAIN in 1998, he knew this is where he was supposed to be. On one of his travels to England, he found himself at Liverpool's Casbah Club, owned by pre-Ringo Beatles drummer Pete Best. Encouraged to get on stage, Steve belted out the rocker "Slow Down," on which Lennon sang lead on a 1965 Beatles record. Best cited the performance at a Beatles convention, saying "it helped make for one of the best nights ever at the Casbah." In August, 2007 Steve and RAIN performed in Liverpool as part of Liverpool's 800th birthday celebration – at both the Empire Theatre (where The Beatles played seven times) and The Cavern Club.

JOEY CURATOLO (Vocals, bass, piano, guitar) Joey grew up in a Brooklyn household where classical music and opera formed the soundtrack. A natural musician and singer, he was infatuated with The Beatles when they hit America, taught himself guitar at 10, played piano by ear and at 16 was moonlighting in a traveling Top 40 cover band. At 17, Joey was entered by friends into a McCartney sound-alike contest at a Beatle festival. Without preparation, he won and caught the eye of a producer for the Broadway production of Beatlemania. Joey ended up in the West Coast version. He joined RAIN in 1983 - helping propel the band into a class by itself. Today, his vocals and bass, piano and guitar playing remain as powerful as ever.

JOE BITHORN (Vocals, lead guitar) George Harrison portrayer Joe grew up on the same Manhattan block where jazz genius Thelonious Monk resided. Steeped in classical music and jazz, young Joe nevertheless dabbled in many genres when teaching himself acoustic guitar. Smitten by The Beatles, at 9 he switched to electric guitar and by 13 was famous in his neighborhood. By 16 he was a studio session musician. He joined a national tour of Beatlemania, mastering Harrison's guitar parts within a one-week period and the scouse accent on the job. Joe passed RAIN's audition by playing both lead guitar parts from "And Your Bird Can Sing" simultaneously, which Harrison and McCartney played in the studio. In RAIN he manages all sorts of fret-board wizardry - including replicating studio sounds with a guitar synthesizer.

RALPH CASTELLI (Drums, percussion, vocals) The son of Italian immigrants, Ralph Castelli was raised in a talented musical family where the accordion, guitar and drums surrounded him throughout his life. In the Castelli home in Alhambra, California, a variety of musical styles from opera to Frank Sinatra, were always on the turntable. By age six, Ralph secretly pounded away on his older brother's drum set and his Mom's pots and pans. Music was in his blood! On that momentous night in February, 1964 when The Beatles first appeared on The Ed Sullivan Show, Ralph sat in front of the TV and knew that playing drums was what he was born to do. So captivated by Ringo Starr and The Beatles that night, his excitement continued to grow and little did he know at the time exactly how his dream would become a reality. After performing and touring in numerous bands, Ralph was spotted and received the opportunity to portray Ringo in the Broadway production of Beatlemania. His drum technique, style, humor, appearance and all his hard work had paid off. He was also lucky enough to play Starr in the film version of Beatlemania. Ralph joined RAIN in 1986.

MARK LEWIS (Keyboards, percussion) The managerial and creative mind that transformed Rain from a 1970s southern California bar band doing Beatles covers into an ultra-professional act with the best musicians in the world, offstage keyboardist Mark traces his love of the Fab Four to the Sunday night of Feb. 9, 1964, when his generation was smitten by The Beatles appearance on The Ed Sullivan Show. An accomplished pianist at 13, having studied since age 5, Mark was soon playing the Farfisa organ in teenage rock bands around his native Los Angeles. After college he met two talented musicians who did Beatles covers in a bar band called Reign. Over the next five years the band gained regional fame, changed its spelling to RAIN, cut the soundtrack to the made-for-TV movie Birth of the Beatles. Mark ensures The Beatles' studio sound is replicated in full during RAIN shows, playing piano and organ and inserting necessary sounds of The Beatles background instrumentation.

ANNERIN PRODUCTIONS is a division of Jeff Parry Promotions which has been a North American concert promotion company for 30 years. Annerin was formed six years ago to produce theatrical tribute type entertainment. In that time, Annerin has produced, Björn Again (Abba), The Pink Floyd Experience, The Led Zeppelin Experience and Rain - A Tribute to The Beatles. The premise of Annerin is to produce high quality shows which enable the audience to experience artists who are no longer touring, in a theatre environment as opposed to clubs which have traditionally been the venues of tribute shows. The result of our 'experience' shows has been to create high quality shows for the demanding theatre client.

"HATS OFF TO VOLUNTEERS"

AMERIGO HOSTS ANNUAL TPAC VOLUNTEER LUNCHEON

For the second year in a row, the Tennessee Performing Arts Center extends its thanks to Amerigo for sponsoring its annual “Hats Off to Volunteers” luncheon. The event recognizes those who donate their invaluable time and effort to TPAC year-round.

TPAC celebrated over 150 active volunteers at the June 14 gathering, featuring a three-course meal in the West End eatery’s main dining room and fun games with appreciation prizes. The afternoon’s highlight came from the much-loved hat decorating contest that produced some of the most memorable creations TPAC staff has seen to date, including a gravity-defying balloon hat (worn by Loraine Flegal) and an ingenious TPAC “tea-pack” hat (worn by Graham Sugg).

“We are yet again indebted to sales and marketing manager Ali Gensert and the wonderful staff of Amerigo for creating such an elaborate and elegant afternoon for our volunteers,” said Melissa Brett, TPAC’s senior community relations manager. “Day in and day out, we rely on our volunteers to offer that extra dose of warmth and hospitality our patrons have come to expect. They deserve to have their work applauded in such an enjoyable fashion.”

During the 2007-2008 season, 282 different TPAC volunteers completed 3,118 hours of service. The organization looks to continue its trend of excellent service with the current 2008-2009 season.

Amerigo has five restaurant locations in Kentucky, Mississippi and Tennessee, offering a casual, cozy and upbeat atmosphere and serving new world Italian cuisine. The award-winning bistro chain, open since 1987, features a wood fire oven grill and an American and Mediterranean twist on traditional Italian food. The Nashville restaurant is conveniently located near TPAC at 1920 West End Avenue and offers both lunch and dinner menus for everything from an intimate pre-show date to large group celebrations.

A WORLD OF PRINT SOLUTIONS

As one of middle Tennessee's oldest printers, our roots run deep. Not just in the local community, but across the globe. After all, we're part of a nationwide network of commercial printers. But more than that, we're also participants in the worldwide movement to sustain the planet.
