Anthony Saccomanno, CLTC

Investment Adviser Representative

Anthony Saccomanno, CLTC is an Investment Adviser Representative with Lighthouse Financial Network, LLC, located in Melville, NY. He provides advice, primarily to retirees and those close to retirement, with the goal of helping them to preserve and strengthen their financial health. He recognizes the importance of first listening to clients' wants and needs. Then, with detailed fact finding methods, creates a 'snapshot' of their financial position which then allows him to formulate strategies for clients to consider, discuss and ask questions, always with an eye towards ensuring their understanding and adding support for their financial health going forward. He has found that many people who have worked and saved to accumulate assets, could use assistance with asset preservation and income planning strategies including, but not limited to, Long Term Care and Life insurance, and Fixed and Variable Annuities.

Anthony has a strong background in the business and financial world. Before beginning his more than thirty year career with a large energy corporation, Anthony obtained a Bachelor of Business Administration degree from CUNY at Baruch, majoring in business management with a concentration in Accounting and Finance. His career included a number of varied management positions, including holding the office of V. P. and Comptroller of a newly formed corporate subsidiary where he was instrumental in building the business from the ground up. He believes strongly that his success was greatly fueled by his philosophy of respect and inclusion of others, which was critical in ensuring the best results for the business and employees alike. Since leaving the corporate world in 2002, Anthony's life and business experience has contributed to his desire to help individuals manage and strengthen their financial health. He obtained licenses and registrations in order to expand his ability to work with people in this area. By providing information and individualized advice to clients, Anthony incorporates the same philosophy of respect and inclusion in all clients' financial health decisions. He knows very well that "one size does not fit all" and strives to make recommendations consistent with and driven by the wants and needs of each individual involved.

Anthony and his wife Judy reside in Garden City, NY and has resided in Nassau County, NY since 1976, where he has contributed time and supported a number of community groups. He has been blessed with a daughter, Krista and a grandson, Anthony.
