

When creating a global announcement for an account or subaccount, admins can choose between five different announcement types: warning, error, information, question, or calendar. The selected announcement type will determine the border color and icon that display with your announcement to selected users in their Canvas Dashboard. There are no other differences between these announcement options.

Note: Global announcements and notifications are only sent to users with active enrollments in the current term.

Warning

A warning announcement card with an orange border and a white background. On the left side, there is a vertical orange bar containing a white information icon (a lowercase 'i' inside a circle). The main content area has the title "Campus Closed" in bold, followed by the text "Campus will be closed on Friday, February 2, due to inclement weather conditions." Below this is a smaller line of text: "This is a message for Documentation Canvas". On the right side, there are two small icons: a pencil (edit) and a trash can (delete).

Warning Announcements include an orange border and an Information icon.

Error

An error announcement card with a red border and a white background. On the left side, there is a vertical red bar containing a white information icon (a lowercase 'i' inside a circle). The main content area has the title "Campus Error" in bold, followed by the text "English 101 was listed as taking place from 9:30-10:30 am in your Course Schedule. It is actually offered from 8:30-9:30 am. We apologize for the error." Below this is a smaller line of text: "This is a message for Documentation Canvas". On the right side, there are two small icons: a pencil (edit) and a trash can (delete).

Error Announcements include a red border and an Information icon.
