

This document is for course role permissions; to view account role permissions, please visit the account permissions PDF.

This document is designed as a complete reference for the Permissions page in Canvas. Using the information in this document, you may be able to troubleshoot permissions-related questions from your users or create custom roles for your account.

Permissions are listed alphabetically, matching the order in the Canvas UI. Each permission includes the following information:

- The default status (enabled/disabled) for default user roles in Canvas
  - A non-editable status is indicated by an asterisk***.
- A table indicating the main effect(s) of the permission, listed specifically in reference to Canvas features
- An additional considerations table, if applicable
  - This includes information about cross-functionality with other permissions and course and/or account settings that may impact the permission

Things to keep in mind when working with permissions:

- You cannot change a permission that has a transparent check mark or X without a button. These are permissions that are locked by default and cannot be modified by anyone.
- When you change a permission, it can sometimes take 30 minutes or longer for that permission to take effect. If the expected changes do not appear immediately, try again after some time has passed.
- Enabling a permission doesn't take effect as quickly as disabling a permission.
- Admins who are given student roles in a course may still be able to view admin features. To avoid permission conflicts, admins should create a separate account.

The following permissions never apply to subaccounts:

- Users - act as (Account)
- SIS Data - import
- Notifications - view (Admin Tools)

Teachers using a Free-for-Teacher account have all the same default Teacher permissions listed here with the exception of the Grades - Select final grade for moderation permission.

Important: This document matches the content shown in the Permissions sidebar and is subject to change. Updates are posted to the Canvas Permissions document in the Canvas Community Admins group. If you find something that does not make sense or does not work as intended, please contact our Canvas support team.
