MISSION STATEMENT

Trevecca Nazarene University is a Christian community providing education for leadership and service.

STATEMENT OF PURPOSE

Trevecca Nazarene University, founded in 1901 by J. O. McClurkan, is a private, accredited, comprehensive institution of higher learning that exists to meet the higher educational needs of the Church of the Nazarene by providing educational services to qualified individuals who desire a university education in a Christian environment and from a Christian understanding. Its academic programs are based on Christian values that promote scholarship, critical thinking, and meaningful worship for students in preparation for lives of leadership and service to the church, the community, and the world at large.

As the official university for the Church of the Nazarene in the southeastern United States, Trevecca is guided by the Articles of Faith and the Covenant of Christian Conduct of the denomination. It emphasizes the authority of the Bible, time-honored tradition, reasoned thought, and authentic experience of Christian holiness as interpreted by the Wesleyan doctrine and worldview. The University welcomes students of any religious affiliation who subscribe to its ideals and standards.

Trevecca intends that its graduates be socially conscious, globally aware, and actively engaged individuals who are developing holistically in the cognitive, emotional, physical, social, and spiritual areas of being. The desire is that each student will develop a personal relationship with Jesus Christ. They are to be persons of strong Christian character, able to make ethical decisions based on biblical principles and reflective thought. Their characteristics should include competence, responsibility, compassion, and the ability to integrate Christian faith and learning in practice.

The University provides a variety of face to face and distance education nontraditional and continuing education professional programs at the undergraduate, master's, and doctoral levels. Traditional undergraduate curricular programs focus on the liberal arts and sciences as reflected in the core curriculum and emphasize a number of professional content areas. While the primary focus of Trevecca faculty is to teach, faculty members are encouraged, as reflective practitioners, to conduct action research that contributes to the practical wisdom of applied knowledge and enhances the learning experience. All programs strive to prepare students for positions of leadership and service in their chosen careers by clarifying their life calling, developing their intellectual abilities, and engaging them in research, service learning, internships, and/or other opportunities that will allow them to demonstrate practical application of their knowledge and skills.

To achieve its purpose, Trevecca employs faculty, administrators, and staff who model the ideals of the University and, as mentors, seek to foster a supportive and challenging environment in which every student can realize his or her full potential in Christ. Therefore, Trevecca seeks to employ Christians who are competent, professionally qualified, and fully committed to the University's mission and purpose.

On a hill stands old Trevecca, Lined against the sky.
Hallowed halls of faith and learning, As the years go by.
We will honor and we'll love her; We will stand for right,
Always carry high her banner, Hail to the purple and the white.
Fellow students, may we honor her; and be ever true.
Sons and daughters she'll be proud of – Dear old T.N.U.

COMMENCEMENT CHALLENGE

Dr. Richard L. Parrot

Dr. Richard L. Parrott, professor of leadership studies, has been a faculty member at Trevecca Nazarene University since 2008. With a rich family heritage in Nazarene higher education, Dr. Parrott is a graduate of Eastern Nazarene College (Psychology, 1974) and Nazarene Theological Seminary (M.Div., 1980). He earned an MA degree from the University of Missouri at Kansas City (Psychology, 1975) and his PhD from Oregon State University (Education Administration, 1983). An ordained elder in the Church of the Nazarene, Dr. Parrott served in pastoral ministry for 23 years, overseeing small churches as well as a large congregation of over 2500 members.

From 1997-2004, Dr. Parrott was an associate professor of Christian leadership at Ashland Theological Seminary, director of the Doctor of Ministry Program, and founding executive director of the Sandberg Leadership Center. As director, he worked with over 130 pastors from 25 denominations and many world areas. In addition, he is an accomplished author, seminar speaker, and workshop facilitator for corporations, colleges and universities, government agencies, and churches, with a particular expertise on personal, professional, and spiritual development. His publications include, among many others: Leadership Essentials: The Proven Path of Effective Leadership, Finding Your Path in Life, and My Soul Purpose. In addition, Dr. Parrott has served on numerous boards and committees for the Church of the Nazarene, both at the district and denominational levels. At Trevecca, his teaching responsibilities have been primarily courses in leadership offered through the University's School of Education and School of Graduate and Continuing Studies. He is known for his love of students, his inspirational and transformational teaching, and his ability to equip individuals for leadership.

Dr. Parrott and his wife, Shirley, reside in Franklin, Tennessee. They are members of Nashville First Church of the Nazarene where he teaches an adult Sunday school class.

INTRODUCING TREVECCA

Trevecca Nazarene University, founded in 1901 by the Rev. J. O. McClurkan, a Cumberland Presbyterian minister, is one of eight U.S. colleges and universities affiliated with the Church of the Nazarene, a denomination in the Wesleyan theological tradition. A national research university, Trevecca is one of six such institutions among the 111 North American members of the Council of Christian Colleges and Universities.

To its 3,900+ students, Trevecca provides undergraduate, master's, specialist, and doctoral programs designed to empower them to make the leap into lives of service and leadership. Additionally, Trevecca is committed to helping students create lives of integrity and authenticity, life values that are reflected in Trevecca's motto, "To be rather than to seem."

THE NAME TREVECCA

Origins—Trevecca is the name of a castle and also a village in Wales. In that village in 1768 a training college for preachers was established for the purpose of uniting two groups within the Wesleyan movement.

Meaning of Trevecca—The word means "House of Rebecca"; Rebecca means "a binding together in love."

THE Lyla T. Mackey Diakonos Award

I became its servant (diakonos) by virtue of the task assigned to me by God for your benefit . . . (Colossians 1:25)

The Lyla T. Mackey Diakonos Award is given on rare occasion in recognition of extraordinary service to the University community and Christian higher education over an extended period of time and with far-reaching, on-going impact. The award is named in honor of Mrs. Lyla T. Mackey who served Trevecca as a faculty member from 1935 until 1972 and who was the award's first recipient in 1999. The honored recipient is nominated by the University president, approved by the Honorary Degree Committee, and elected by the Board of Trustees. Dr. Gerald D. Skinner, a former faculty member, long-time member and chair of the Board of Trustees, and major benefactor to the University, was the award's second recipient (2005). Judge Charles A. Davis, the third recipient (2013) and a 1969 graduate of Trevecca, served on the University's Board of Trustees for 31 years, including 12 years as chair, was the third recipient (2013).

During her many years of service at Trevecca, Mrs. Lyla T. Mackey made a significant contribution as both an educator and a community leader. She served as head librarian from 1943 until her retirement and taught classes in a number of disciplines, including English, foreign language, American history, and library science. In all areas of her service, she exemplified the finest in Christian dedication and devotion. The School of Education building on the campus is named in honor of Mrs. Mackey and her husband, Dr. A.B. Mackey, who served as president of Trevecca from 1936 to 1963.

CANDIDATE FOR DIAKONOS AWARD

Dr. Stephen M. Pusey

Dr. Stephen M. Pusey, the fourth recipient of the Lyla T. Mackey Diakonos Award, is completing his 27th year as a senior-level administrator at Trevecca, since his appointment as vice president for academic affairs in 1992. For the past 14 years, he has served in his current position as University provost and senior vice president with primary oversight for the academic, student development, and enrollment management areas of the university. In March, he announced his retirement to the campus community and the Board of Trustees, at which time the board granted him the rank of provost and senior vice president emeritus, effective June 30, 2019. Before coming to Trevecca, Dr. Pusey served his alma mater, Olivet Nazarene University, for 12 years as a faculty member, academic department chair, division head, and school dean. He taught high school from 1976-1980 in his home state of Ohio while he completed both his MA degree from Northern Arizona University (History, 1976) and his PhD degree from The Ohio State University (History & Teacher Education, 1981).

During Dr. Pusey's years at Trevecca, the University has seen significant growth in both academic programs and enrollment, from approximately 1300 students in 1992 to what will exceed 4,000 this coming fall. University status was achieved in 1995. Much of the growth has been the result of diversifying the types of academic programs the institution offers and the innovative ways in which those programs are delivered, from the traditional undergraduate programs and adult degree-completion programs to a large number of graduate programs, including three doctorates. He states that his greatest satisfaction is that the University has changed, adapted, and grown without sacrificing its core mission as a Christian institution of higher education. He attributes this in large part to the University faculty who are of the highest academic and professional quality, but remain deeply committed to who we are as a Christian institution. Dr. Pusey has directed the University through three successful reaffirmations of accreditation by the University's regional accrediting body, the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools.

Dr. Pusey and his wife, Gail, live in the Walden Grove neighborhood on the edge of the campus and are members of Trevecca Community Church of the Nazarene. They have two daughters, Andrea (Ben) Fowler and Paula (Chris) Eldridge, seven grandchildren, and one great grandchild.

THE TREVECCA NAZARENE UNIVERSITY CENTENNIAL MACE

The president of Trevecca will open the University's commencement celebration by leading the processional and carrying the Trevecca Nazarene University Centennial Mace.

The academic mace was one of the earliest distinctive signs of medieval university officials. The mace was originally a wooden staff carried by royal messengers. The early wooden staff was carried during processions and graduation ceremonies and was displayed as a symbol to command order during classes. In the 15th century it became symbolic of academic dignity. An essential part of the mace was the staff or cylindrical rod (tibia), originally a tube of silver filled with wood or some other base materials. The staff, divided into several sections, was held together by a ring-shaped excrescence (nodus). The staff was crowned with a bell-shaped head (caput) at the base of a finial (membrum terminale).

The Trevecca Nazarene University Centennial Mace bears a flame, symbolizing the University's mission and fanning the flame of service to the family, community, church, and world. The seal of the University and Church of the Nazarene inside the flame include the cross, the globe, and an open book symbolic of knowledge and truth. The date reminds us of our historical heritage. The staff embraces the bronze rings with each of the presidents who have served during the centennial.

The centennial mace was a gift to the University by Dr. and Mrs. Melvin Welch in the commemoration of the University's centennial celebration. The mace is on display in the Hardy Alumni Center when not used at commencement.

SIGNIFICANCE OF THE COLORS OF THE ACADEMIC REGALIA

The colors of the tassel on the caps of the graduating class are the Trevecca colors of purple and white. White honor cords are worn by those students who are honor graduates.

The faculty, trustees, and guests in the procession have additional color symbols. The colors in the lining of the hood for a graduate degree are the colors of the institution that conferred the degree. The color of the velvet edging on a doctoral hood indicates whether the degree is doctor of philosophy (Ph.D.) – dark blue; doctor of education (Ed.D.) – light blue; doctor of medicine (M.D.) – green; doctor of ministry (D.Min.) – scarlet; doctor of jurisprudence (J.D.) – purple, or doctor of arts (D.A.) – white. The color of the velvet edging on a master's hood may represent either the degree or the subject area of the degree: master of arts (M.A.) – white; master of science (M.S.) – golden yellow; business – light brown; education – light blue; library science – lemon; medicine – green; music – pink; theology – scarlet.

The doctoral gown is further distinguished by its bell-shaped sleeves with three velvet bars on each sleeve and by the velvet edging along each side of the front. The tassel for a doctoral cap is usually golden but may be the color of the subject area. Tams are worn to represent those institutions that have been offering degrees for more than one hundred years.

UNIVERSITY CHAIN OF OFFICE

The University Chain of Office, worn by the president of the University during commencement ceremonies, offers a unique opportunity to recognize both administrative periods and academic disciplines. The chain embraces the seal of the University and the Church of the Nazarene, as well as the dogwood flower, which symbolizes the Trevecca Community. Links identify the presidents who have served during the centennial.

The University Chain of Office was a gift to the University from Dr. and Mrs. Millard Reed and is on display in the Office of the President when not in use at official ceremonies.
