MAX LAFSER - MINISTERIAL STUDENT AND ARTIST

Max Lafser and his wife Marjorie came to Unity from Seattle, where they had worked in the Unity center with Don O'Connor. It was through their church work and activities that Max and Marjorie first met.

Marjorie has worked in Silent Unity Junior Letter Writers for two years and was recently transferred to the phone room.

Max had attended several Y. O. U. conferences with young people from the center in Seattle before he came here to start his ministerial training two years ago.

We have discovered Max has many talents, among them his art work. He majored in art at the University of Washington in Seattle. This picture shows two of his paintings, the one on the left in his hand having taken first prize at the fair in Lee's Summit. This picture is a chalk sketch in rust brown and black. Max also does water coloring, and he won third prize for one of his watercolor paintings on which he used a mouth sprayer to apply the paint. Until we have the opportunity to display some of his art work we want to offer our congratulations and best wishes for continued success.

We are happy to have Max and Marjorie with us in our Unity household of faith, and we are knowing for them that the Spirit of the Lord goes before them making their way clear, joyous, and successful.

the Beta Sigma Phi sorority in the Lee's Summit area. Readers of the Pictorial News balloted for the candidates in the Zeta Theta Chapter. Her picture has been sent to the Beta Sigma Phi International Headquarters in Kansas City to compete with two thousand, five hundred girls in the Beta Sigma Phi sororities all over the world.

Marjorie, twenty-two, was born and reared in Seattle. She attended the University of Washington, majoring in education. Marjorie has been a member of the Beta Sigma Phi in Seattle, and was vice-president of Phi Alpha Gamma chapter for two years before she was transferred to the Zeta Theta Chapter in Lee's Summit. She is interested in snow skiing and art.

The Lafsers moved to Lee's Summit in September of 1961. We give you our special blessings, Marjorie, and wish you the best of
