From The Pastor...

When you think about your role in the church, what comes to mind? Do you think about years of faithful service? Do you think of the lives you've poured into over the years? Do you think of the way God has used you to impact lives locally and abroad? Do you think about how God has given you the gospel and what you've done to share it? Or do you think simply think about an hour on Sundays where you sit in the same pew, possibly singing songs, putting some money in the offering plate, and listening to the preacher's sermon?

How do you view your role in the church? Do you see your role as a consumer or producer? Many people in our country today are content to be a consumer when it comes to their interaction with God through the church. They consume all they can for their own benefit without putting it to use for the benefit of the church. We are called by God to grow in our faith, to grow in our understanding of the Word, and then put it into practice in our lives. By doing so we give back to God through our service and worship. We don't simply take from Him, go home with no change, and do it all over again the next week. Instead we allow Him to challenge and change us through our worship, so we can impact our church, community, and the world for Him.

To help us do a better job in our individual lives at being a producer rather than a consumer, throughout May we will have a message series on Equipping. This series will equip us in sharing the gospel, using our spiritual gifts, and the impact we can have on missions and ministries in our church. If you are ready to go from a consumer to producer in your spiritual life, then don't miss this new series!
