

TESTIMONY

JOHN VALOR LUMIBAO

I've answered God's call to serve as a missionary in Pantabangan, Nueva Ecija. It's a beautiful place, but it's spiritually underserved, and I feel deeply called to share the hope and love of Christ here.

This mission is about more than preaching—it's about living among the community, building relationships, and showing God's love through action. I'll sit with families, teach children, and walk alongside those facing struggles, helping them see they are not forgotten by God.

This isn't about me—it's about what God can do in a place like Pantabangan. I pray that through this, people will come to know Him not just as a distant God, but as their personal Savior, their source of hope and strength. This mission is a small offering in the grand scheme of His work, but I believe even small steps can bring lasting change.
