MISSIONARY MOMENTS

Pastor Keith Wieser, of Resonate Church says students from his church go regularly to Asia with the hopes of seeing hearts changed by the gospel. But what they find is an added blessing – they are changed too, and when they come back, their passion for missions changes the culture of their church. It’s our belief that what we do in East Asia, allows us to be able to do what we do in Boise and these college towns and church plants. That they go across the world it’s more likely they will go across the street.
