

Risk & Safety
TRAINING

University of California

About the Speaker

Larry Wong CIH, FAIHA
UC Office of the President

Larry Wong has worked in the environmental health and safety (EH&S) field for over 45 years. He is currently the Associate EH&S Director for the University of California Office of the President. As the Associate Director, Mr. Wong is responsible for providing system-wide direction, consultation, and assistance to the UC campuses and medical centers. He has also served as the EH&S Director at UC Santa Cruz, UC Merced, UC Riverside and San Francisco State University. Before coming to the University of California, Mr. Wong served as a Section Chief for the California Department of Toxic Substances Control (DTSC) and as an industrial hygienist with Cal/OSHA where he performed field inspections, conducted occupational safety and health research, and developed several proposed regulations for approval by the Cal/OSHA Standards Board.

Through R'Lens

Distinguished Speakers Series

A Retrospective View of 45 Years of EH&S

Tuesday, December 3, 2019
12:00 pm PST

RSVP: <http://training.ucr.edu/speakers>

How do you achieve success in the University of California? Larry Wong shares the answer through his retrospective spanning 45 years. Learn about major milestones observed in the health and safety profession. And get valuable advice that worked to promote a Program Manager up into an interim EH&S Director at several campuses.

For more information on training and education, visit
<https://training.ucr.edu/>