DISARMAMENT COMMISSION
1991 substantive session
New York, 22 April-13 May 1991
Agenda item 4

OBJECTIVE INFORMATION ON MILITARY MATTERS

Objectives, principles and mechanisms of openness
in the military sphere

Working paper submitted by the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics

In order to help ensure that military openness becomes a universal norm of international life, it might be possible to agree that measures to promote such openness, specifically under the auspices of the United Nations, provide for the following:

The annual voluntary submission by States to the United Nations of information on the strength of their armed forces (both as a whole and by principal service - army, air force, navy, etc.); on basic types of arms (tanks, armoured cars, artillery, military aeroplanes and helicopters, major surface vessels (including landing craft) and submarines); on levels of forces outside national territory; and, for nuclear Powers, on launching systems for intercontinental and submarine-launched ballistic missiles, heavy bombers and surface-based tactical nuclear missiles;

The annual voluntary submission by States of information to the existing standardized United Nations reporting system for military expenditures;

An increase in the predictability of the military construction programmes of United Nations Member States through mutual assurances of transparency in the military budgets of such Member States.
