Arms control and non-proliferation is one of long-term priorities of the Czech foreign policy. It makes an effort to actively prevent armed conflicts through preventive diplomacy with emphasis on multilateral cooperation. Should a crisis or armed conflict arise, the Czech Republic seeks timely resolution by diplomatic means whenever possible.

The Czech Republic is party to the following international Treaties and Conventions in the field of conventional arms control, disarmament, confidence and security building measures and export control regimes:

- Anti-Personnel Landmine Convention
- Convention on Cluster Munitions
- Convention on Certain Conventional Weapons
- United Nations Programme of Action to Prevent, Combat and Eradicate the Illicit Trade in Small Arms and Light Weapons in All Its Aspects and the Implementation of the International Instrument to Enable States to Identify and Trace in a Timely and Reliable Manner, Illicit Small Arms and Light Weapons
- Treaty on Conventional Armed Forces in Europe
- Vienna Document
- Open Skies Treaty
- The Wassenaar Arrangement on Export Controls for Conventional Arms and Dual Use Goods and Technologies.

The Czech Republic continuously implements all commitments stemming from international agreements on conventional arms control, disarmament and confidence-and security-building measures in Europe. Their implementation is regularly reported to the pertinent organizations. Information exchange is taking place where required.

In accordance with Czech law, promulgated treaties, to the ratification of which the Parliament has given its consent and by which the Czech Republic is bound, form a part of the legal order; if a treaty provides something other than that which a statute provides, the treaty shall apply. Where necessary the provisions are implemented by special laws. In other cases the provisions are self-executing in the Czech Republic.

The Criminal Code of the Czech Republic (no. 40/2009 of the Collection of Laws) includes paragraph no. 280, called “Development, production and possession of prohibited means of combat”. This provision determines that it is a crime to develop, produce, import, export, store or accumulate weapons or means of combat prohibited by law or international treaty, or to dispose of these weapons or means of combat in any other way. This provision further determines possible punishment for such a crime – imprisonment for a term of two years up to eight years.

Law on prohibition of cluster munitions had been adopted on 21 June 2011 (no. 213/2011 of the Collection of Laws) to implement the Convention on Cluster Munitions. The Convention as well as the Law entered into force for the Czech Republic on 1 March 2012.
The Czech Republic in 2013 implemented all commitments stemming from international agreements on arms control, disarmament and confidence- and security-building measures in Europe.

The Czech Republic according to the Treaty on Conventional Armed Forces in Europe:
- organized and conducted one multinational inspection abroad (with participation of four inspectors from four countries),
- organized two multinational training inspections (with participation of twenty one inspectors from ten countries),
- took part in two allied inspection teams abroad;

According to the Vienna Document:
- organized one evaluation visit and two inspections of specified area;
- took part in three visits to air bases and other military facilities and in show of new types of weapons;
- took part in five inspections as a part of foreign teams;
- participated as the assistants in two inspections conducted in accordance with Article IV of the Dayton Peace Agreement;

Under Treaty on Open Skies:
- received one observation flight and conducted two joint observation flights.

As for Conventional Forces in Europe Treaty, it finds itself at the crossroads. The Czech Republic considers the preservation of effective conventional arms control regime as one of the key elements of the European security. The Czech Republic stands ready to work with all States Parties towards revitalization of the conventional arms control in Europe that will preserve the indispensable principles of transparency, restraint and host nation consent.
