

Carahsoft Named as a Government Distributor of Samsung KNOX Software

Carahsoft to Support Samsung's Public Sector Channel and Drive Demand for Samsung KNOX

RESTON, VA, November 03, 2015 /24-7PressRelease/ -- Carahsoft Technology Corp., the trusted government IT solutions provider, and Samsung Electronics America, a global technology leader, today announced a distribution agreement to bring Samsung's industry-leading mobile security platform to public sector customers. Under the agreement, Carahsoft will serve as a government distributor, supporting Samsung's public sector channel organization and driving demand for Samsung KNOX in government and education markets.

"Samsung is excited to be included among Carahsoft's market-leading technology partners and to work with Carahsoft's dedicated KNOX team to expand our reach in the public sector and our partner ecosystem," said Johnny Overcast, Director Government Sales. "We're looking forward to the company's support in extending our success in this marketplace."

Samsung KNOX is a comprehensive, government-ready mobile security enterprise platform that provides multi-level security and container solutions with cloud-based enterprise mobility management services. Specifically, KNOX solutions, which are available immediately through Carahsoft and its reseller partners, encompass the following:

- KNOX Workspace container improves the user experience, providing security for enterprise data by creating a secure zone in the employee's device for corporate applications, and encrypting enterprise data both at rest and in motion.
- KNOX Premium is an end-to-end solution that provides IT administrators with the ability to manage mobile devices using a cloud-based console and on-device secure workspace. IT administrators can satisfy enterprise security requirements without compromising employee privacy for BYOD and corporately owned and personally enabled (COPE) devices.

"The proliferation of mobile technologies is transforming government and education," said Robert R. Moore, senior vice president at Carahsoft. "By teaming with Samsung, Carahsoft and our partners will be able to offer these market-proven solutions to address mobile enterprise challenges, enable their mobile initiatives, and meet their mission goals."

Samsung KNOX has earned extensive, internationally recognized security certifications including:

- Common Criteria (CC) for Information Technology Security Evaluation issued by the National Information Assurance Partnership
- Federal Information Processing Standard (FIPS) 104-2 Level 1 Certification issued by the National Institute of Standards and Technology
- DISA Mobile Operating System Security Requirements Guide Compliance issued by the Defense Information Systems Agency
- End User Devices (EUD) Security Guidance Issued by the Communications and Electronics Security Group (CESG)
