

Kensington Debuts TAA-Compliant BlackBelt™ Rugged Case with Integrated CAC Reader for Surface Pro

May 07, 2019

The Ultimate Case to Secure and Protect Your Surface Pro, Its Data, and Your Network

San Mateo, CA – May 7, 2019 – Kensington®, the worldwide leader of desktop computing and mobility solutions for IT, business, and home office professionals and The Professionals' Choice, announced the launch of the TAA-compliant version of the Kensington BlackBelt™ Rugged Case with Integrated CAC Reader. Ideal for government users, the tough case protects the Surface Pro from accidental drops and provides secure access to the user's device and network anytime, from anywhere.

Compatible with Surface™ Pro 6, Surface™ Pro (5th Gen) and Surface™ Pro 4, the BlackBelt™ Rugged Case with Integrated CAC Reader (K97550WW, SRP $149.99) is a TAA-compliant case that features an integrated FIPS 201-compliant CAC reader that supports class A, B and C for secure access to the device and the network. Read-only memory (ROM) ensures that the user's data is never compromised because it is never stored.

Benefits of the BlackBelt™ Rugged Case with Integrated CAC Reader:

- Military-Grade Protection – Guards the Surface Pro from damage from drops and features a rear camera cover for added lens protection.
- Versatile – Self-adjusting hand strap provides a firm grip when in use and stows to allow the Surface Pro to lie flat.
- Convenient – Openings for the kickstand and I/O ports allow access to all Surface functionality. A pen holder and tether keeps the Surface Pen handy while a TypeCover strap and keyboard holder keep the keyboard protected and clean.
- Secure – Cable lock compatibility allows the easy implementation of a Kensington cable lock to deter theft.

The BlackBelt™ Rugged Case with Integrated CAC Reader is part of Kensington's growing portfolio of TAA-compliant solutions, which continues to expand based on our interactions with our strategic partners and end-user community.
